ALBERTA ACTS TO GO TO PRIVY COUNCIL

Hannen Swaffer:

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The Duke of Windsor is starting the most trying adventure of his much-talked-of life—a visit to the United States.

What will happen nobody knows. He is "to study housing and labor conditions" in the United States.

The truth is, he could stay here for five years and yet not understand it.

As I stood on the high roof of the "Jewish Daily Forward's" office in New York with Charney B. Vladeck, one of the most prominent labor leaders, we looked down on the East Side.

There, in spite of New York's boasted housing schemes, he said, "there are 350,000 families in those houses—one-fifth of New York's population.

"Close us," they say. "Build us new homes." But there is nowhere to put them.

"According to the law, the stairs must be fire-retarded, and there must be a separate toilet for each family. But the landlords defy the law.

"No fewer than 30,000 landlords are on a sit-down strike.

"Out of the 60,000 tenement

Dewey, Nemesis of Racketeers, Also Elected By Big Majority

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Complete returns from the city's 3,910 election districts today gave: Laguardia 1,344,016 to 889,591 for Mahoney, a majority of 454,425.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3—Mayor Fiorello Laguardia rode back into New York's city hall today on a landslide vote that buried his Democratic opponent and shook old Tammany Hall to its crumbling foundation.

Laguardia

On the basis of almost complete returns from yesterday's election, the volatile little incumbent scored one of the most impressive triumphs in the city's history and carried to victory at least the top of his slate, including the No. 1 racket-buster, Thos. E. Dewey.

Returns from 3,600 of the 3,910 districts scattered through the five boroughs gave the mayor 1,223,144 votes to 827,884 for former Judge

U. S. SELLS MORE TO DOMINION THAN BRITAIN

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—The United States topped all nations supplying Canada with goods during the six months ended Sept. 30, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today, while the United Kingdom came second.

Up 39.4 per cent from September, 1936, were this country's total imports. Those from the United States gained 39.4 per cent, those from Great Britain 21.5, those from the empire 27.6, those from foreign countries 36 per cent.

Imports totalled $421,464,044. The United States supplied $251,918,277, the United Kingdom $78,418,264.

Huge Debenture Offering On Books Only Two Hours

New Debentures Eagerly Snapped Up—Will Take Place of Victory Bonds Redeemable on December 1

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—The new $100,000,000 loan of the Dominion government was over-subscribed and the books closed at 10 a.m. M.S.T. today, two hours after they had opened. The loan will be used to retire victory bonds redeemable on December 1.

Finance Minister Dunning said he was well satisfied with the public's reception of the loan. His departmental officials had not yet been able to ascertain the extent the issue had been over - subscribed.

HUGILL SCORES SOCIAL CREDIT GOVERNMENT

Former Attorney-General Never Believed Dividends Possible

WETASKIWIN, Nov. 3.—Attacking the Alberta government for trying to pass legislation he termed "unconstitutional", John W. Hugill, K.C., former attorney-general of the province, told a special meeting of the Wetaskiwin Board of Trade Tuesday night "he thanked God the recent Alberta legislation had been disallowed."

There is nothing wrong with the constitution of Canada, he added, "though there may often be something wrong with individuals and demagogues."

S.C. DOCTRINES ATTACKED

Attacking the doctrines of Social Credit, Mr. Hugill said he never had believed that the granting of basic dividends was practicable.

Declaring he held no brief for the banking system of Canada, he maintained that that system functioned in the interests of the country, adding he was thankful he could go to it to borrow money when he needed it or deposit some.

"The present situation in Alberta is most serious," the speaker warned.

"It is serious even if Premier Aberhart, the present incumbent of the office, thought he was competent to hold the attorney-general's portfolio," he said.

NOTHING UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Referring to the U.F.A. government, Mr. Hugill said that the administration had not attempted to do anything that was unconstitutional.

Mr. Hugill, who has recently announced his adherence to the People's League, was accompanied by R. D. Tighe, K.C., and Cecil Gould, both of Edmonton.

Resolution urging the provincial government to complete roads in the Wetaskiwin district was passed by the Board of Trade.

BRITAIN, U.S. SHOULD SETTLE WAR IN CHINA

Russia May Intervene George Murray, B.C. Member, Says

VICTORIA, Nov. 3—An early settlement of the Sino-Japanese conflict under a face-saving formula for the Japanese—or eventual Russian intervention and Soviet domination of the Far East.

This is the way that George M. Murray, M.L.A., for Lillooet, and Vancouver Sun correspondent, who returned today from China, sees the Far Eastern situation.

Mr. Murray said that Britain and the United States should lead in a peace settlement, which might be done by making Shanghai a free city under international control, thus allowing the Japanese to retire gracefully. "The Japanese should be made to withdraw in North China to the former boundaries and then be allowed to participate in the industrial development of China like other nationals.

RUSSIA MAY INTERVENE

"If this is not done, or something like it, Russia will just wait while China bleeds Japan down. Then one fine afternoon she will step in, bomb the major Japanese cities, smash the nation and dominate the Pacific," he said.

Mr. Murray who spent ten days in Shanghai, with Mrs. Murray, at the time of the heaviest bombardment, estimated that without a settlement, fighting will go on for at least a year.

"The Japanese are in it so deep now they can't withdraw and save face," he said.

SITUATION UNCHANGED

"The situation at Shanghai is very little changed from August 13," he said.

"True, buildings have been knocked down, but the Japanese have lost at least 75,000 men and made no real headway.

"The Chinese have outmaneuvered the Japanese at Shanghai. Their strategy, despite inferior equipment, has been brilliant."

Grain Growers Showing Profit

PARTIES FAIL TO AGREE ON "UNITY" DEAL

Liberals, Conservatives, People's League and U.F.A. At Meeting

Discussion lasting approximately 90 minutes today failed to bring about an agreement between representatives of the Liberal and Conservative and U.F.A. parties and the People's League of Alberta on the method to be adopted for calling of conventions to nominate Unity party candidates for the next Alberta elections.

The meeting, which was held at the Macdonald hotel, was attended by K. L. Gray, M.L.A., Alberta Liberal leader; D. M. Duggan, M.L.A., Alberta Conservative leader; C. C. Gillies, Clover Bar, president Edmonton branch of the People's League; Fenimore Ford and John Dower, of its executive; J. A. Cavanagh, president of the Calgary branch, People's League, and R. G. Reid, former U.F.A. premier.

GOES TO MORINVILLE

Immediately following the meeting Mr. Gray, accompanied by J. Boyd McBride, K.C., and J. H. Tremblay, Liberal M.L.A. for Grouard, left for Morinville to attend a nominating convention called to nominate a candidate to contest the St. Albert seat under the leadership of Mr. Gray at the next election.

Asked if an agreement had been reached on the method of calling future conventions, Mr. Duggan stated "no agreement had been arrived at."

He also stated that no statement would be issued relative to the meeting at present.

He intimated that negotiations between the groups had not been broken off, that cordial relations still existed, but that he did not know when other meetings would take place to discuss the question further.

AUSTRALIAN SOCRED, THOUGHT ELECTED, LOSES

SYDNEY, New South Wales, Nov. 3.—The one Social Credit candidate who appeared to have been elected to the Australian House of Representatives in the general elections of Oct. 23 was defeated today at conclusion of counting of proportional representation ballots in his constituency.

Election of G. H. A. Nichols, an organizer for Social Credit and disciple of Major C. H. Douglas, had been about conceded in the Wide Bay district of Queensland on the basis of early figures.

Today's completion of counting, however, showed he was defeated by a candidate of the Country party which with the United Australia party forms the Coalition government headed by Prime Minister Joseph Lyons.

Brussels Reply Reveals Amiable End To Sino War

Italian Envoy Only Disturbing Factor in Meeting Filled With Peace Speeches—Canadian Delegation is Inactive

By GRANT DEXTER

London Bureau of The Edmonton Bulletin and Winnipeg Free Press.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 3. — It was evident from the outset that the Nine Power Conference, which opened here this morning is shaping its course straight for mediation of the Sino-Japanese war situation. It does so not as between aggressor and victim states, but as between two equally worthy nations. This is the only conclusion that can be drawn from the torrent of highly dignified, but amiable and simple-hearted eloquence which marked the opening of deliberations.

The tone of the atmosphere of the opening session was revealed in the speeches, which studded the speeches made by delegates—mediation, amiable settlement, co-operation, friendship, brotherly love, fair play, equality, peace, good will, mutual trust—all these were among the words used, and of these mediation held a narrow lead over peace at the noon adjournment.

VIRTUOUS ATMOSPHERE

Unity Convention of Liberals, Conservatives and U.F.A. Held

MEDICINE HAT, Nov. 3.—Joint convention of the Liberals, Conservatives and U.F.A. parties of the Cypress constituency, held at Whitla Saturday, postponed nomination of a candidate to contest the next provincial election and appointed 12 directors over the riding as an organization body to call a further meeting at a later date.

DUGGAN NOT PRESENT

Mr. Short attended, representing D. M. Duggan, M.L.A., Conservative leader, who was unable to be present.

"Unity" among the three parties was the keynote that prevailed during the sessions. The meeting decided that the riding should be divided into four parts, with three directors appointed over each division.

The directors will be responsible for organizing at each poll and to the appointment of delegates from the polls to attend a later convention, at which time a candidate will be selected.

INTERESTED PARTIES MAY SEND COUNSEL

Court Expected To Hear Others, Especially On Newspaper Legislation

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—Law officers of the crown said today that reference to the Supreme Court on Alberta legislation would be open to interested parties to present argument, particularly with respect to the legislation dealing with newspapers.

While there was no definite information as to the manner in which the references would be taken to the privy council, once the decision of the supreme court has been handed down, Prime Minister Mackenzie King stated the decision of the highest court in the Empire would undoubtedly be obtained. Presumably the parties losing their argument in the supreme court would make the appeal.

Date for hearing the reference depends on the supreme court but it is understood there should be an opening within the next two or three weeks.

U.S. Trade Treaty Burning British Need, House Told

Dominion Immigration Also Comes up in Important Debate at Westminster—800,000 Working on Arms

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The House of Commons yesterday debated Anglo-American trade relations and the possible effect of the proposed trade treaty with the United States on the Dominions. At conclusion of the debate an opposition Liberal amendment to the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne was rejected and the address itself was adopted without division.

The vote against the amendment was 363 to 146. Labor joining the Liberal representation in opposing the government.

Oliver Stanley, president of the board of trade, recorded the British government's "earnest desire" to conclude a "satisfactory" agreement with the United States for expansion of Anglo-American trade.

"I assure the house," he declared

Bank Tax, Press And Credit Control Involved In Edict

Premier's Decision is to Refer Cases For Speedy Hearing by Supreme Court—Final Judgment of London Tribunal

OTTAWA, Nov. 3. — Alberta's bank taxation, credit control and newspaper regulation bills, passed at the last special session of the legislature, will be subject to reference to the supreme court and probably the privy council, to determine if they will become law, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced last night.

The supreme court will be asked to depart from its usual custom and "receive such evidence and admit such proof" as it may consider necessary in order to determine whether the bills, if allowed to become law, would be within the competence of the Alberta legislature.

In the meantime the reservation of assent, made by Lieutenant-Governor Bowen of Alberta pending signification of the Governor-General's pleasure, will prevent the acts becoming law. The Governor-General himself, acting on the advice of his ministers, will have final disposition of the bills, signifying or withholding royal assent after the courts have ruled on the competency of the legislature to enact the measures. Mr. Bowen's responsibility ceased when he referred the bills to Ottawa.

On Aberhart's Suggestion

In making this reference to the courts the Prime Minister said he was following the suggestion of Alberta's Premier Aberhart, with the exception that he is not in agreement that the bank tax and credit bills should become law in the meantime, which Mr. Aberhart urged was necessary in order that a proper test case might be made.

Customarily the supreme court does not take evidence and deals only with appeals or references as to facts. But that court, it was stated, is supreme and may take such evidence as necessary in order to meet the requirements of the reference. It will be asked to do this and the procedure will be in the hands of the court.

Early Hearing Assured

An early hearing of these references, and that announced last week on the power of the federal government to disallow provincial legislation, is expected.

The Prime Minister told correspondents verbally at the end of yesterday's cabinet meeting it was the intention of the administration that the reference on the bills and on the question of the Dominion government's power of disallowance be carried to the privy council for final decision.

In the order-in-council referring the three measures to the supreme court, the same question is asked, with respect to each of the three measures—"An Act Respecting the Taxation of Banks," "An Act to Amend and Consolidate the Credit of Alberta Regulation Act," and "An Act to Ensure Publication of Accurate News and Information."

Commons Told Dominions Unharmed By U.S. Treaty

House Told No Diminution Of Employment Due In England

"there is nothing in public life today which I take so seriously, or for which I strive so hard, as the possibility of an agreement of the kind we are discussing."

"Great difficulties" in exploratory negotiations included, he said:

1—Wariness of the United States against launching much effort until reasonably assured of ultimate success.

2—The fact that, because of the geographical position of the United States, its climatic range and its economic structure, American interests "here and there" parallel those of dominions signatory to the Ottawa trade agreements.

The United States had made it clear, however, and the dominions understood that "there could be no idea of abandoning the system of imperial preference."

FULL SYMPATHY

Mr. Stanley said representatives of the dominions were informed of the informal discussions with the United States when they were in London for the imperial conference "and expressed full sympathy with the efforts we are making and the desire of the United States to explore new trade."

The British government wished to conclude the exploratory work at the earliest possible moment "to start negotiations and to arrive at a satisfactory agreement."

His declaration was made in reply to Liberal criticism of the government's economic policy. Liberals in an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne, charged the government was not taking steps against possible diminution of employment on completion of the rearmament program or in a period of commercial depression.

SLUMP TALK

Mr. Stanley blamed a recent increase in "slump talk" mainly on recent Wall Street recessions.

Major Gwilym Lloyd George, son of the former prime minister, moved the Liberal amendment, which declared the development of migration must depend on Dominion sentiment and approval and belief of the Dominions in their economic capacity to absorb such migration.

The board of trade president said he shared the desire for an increase in such movement of people, "But I question whether the opportunity of the best way to secure the approval of the dominions for migration is not to advance the defunction of the Ottawa agreements."

M. P. Price, Labor, expressed his conviction organized migration to Canada would in any way oppose improved relations between the United Kingdom and the United States.

FROM DOMINIONS

L. S. Amery, former colonial secretary, said the most effective way the United Kingdom could develop the resources of the dominions and colonies was by buying what they produced.

Amery urged Britain to eliminate the most favored nation clause in trade agreements in its present form, saying it the greatest obstacle to freer trade in Europe.

R. J. Boothby, Conservative leader in the movement in some parts of the house toward closer relations with the United States, said the most serious effect of the October market slump was a "disastrous weakening of the democratic forces of the world at a critical moment."

Expressing hopes for a trade agreement with the United States as "an ultimate aim," he asked "is there any reason why we should not be co-operation with the United States in the vast stocks of gold which we possess in a joint lending policy and try to re-establish prosperity among countries still impoverished?"

REMEMBER FARMERS

Sir Henry Page Croft, Conservative, urged the government in any trade agreements it might make to give every consideration to British agriculture and not to promote any agreements that would put back the clock in regard to Britain's trade with the dominions.

Sir Archibald Sinclair, leader of the Liberal opposition, said if 500,000 persons are engaged directly or indirectly on armament work, and armed plans for their employment in the event the international armaments race is halted.

He contended full co-operation of the United States with the United Kingdom for economic appeasement can not be obtained unless the Ottawa agreements are substantially modified.

Which More Embarrassing?

PARLEY SEEKS AMIABLE END SINO-JAP WAR

which obviously touched most of the delegates present, with the exception of the Chinese. These latter, whose eyes seemed abnormally large behind the horn-rimmed glasses common to the Chinese delegates, were patently alarmed and distressed at the sudden change of direction of the conference dictated by friendly powers, all of them pledged to respect the integrity of Chinese territory.

China came here as a woman raped, to put its case before this world court of justice, but all morning the Chinese delegates were forced to listen to judges who deliberately avoided casting the slightest stigma on the character of her attacker, and they were frankly puzzled and worried.

Senator Dandurand of Canada, who is easily the most distinguished looking statesman present, observed regretfully:

CANADIANS QUIESCENT

It is understood in Canadian quarters that the Dominion delegation has no intention of taking an active part in the proceedings, but will closely observe their trend.

This morning's proceedings clearly marked this as a peculiarly United States conference. However distasteful this may be to the United States delegation, and it is evident that Ambassador Davis greatly dislikes being pushed into the forefront of the proceedings, the fact remains that the conference leadership has been thrust on Washington. It was Ambassador Davis who pointed the way to mediation this morning, the others immediately echoing, although there is no reason to believe that it was against their will.

The probable course of the conference will be to appoint a subcommittee which will quickly recommend that peace overtures be opened between Nanking and Tokyo. What the conference will do if mediation is refused is a complete mystery, but proceedings so far indicate that punitive measures, economic or otherwise against Japan, are not contemplated.

Famous Old Starter Mourned In Canada

WINNIPEG, Nov. 3.—Western Canada race horse men paid tribute today to the famous race track starter, Harry Morrisey, who died in California.

"He was probably the oldest starter on the continent and one of the best," said C. F. Rowe, assistant manager of the Prairie Thoroughbred Racing Association.

"He did not start on any Western Canada tracks but he is known all over the continent for his ability on United States and Eastern Canada tracks. Why Jim Donovan, our starter on western tracks was once groundsman for Morrisey."

LAGUARDIA IS LANDSLIDE MAYOR CHOICE

Jeremiah Mahoney, Democratic-Tammany nominee.

In the other featured fight that for the New York county district attorney's office, the 32 - year - old Dewey led his Democratic foe, Harold Hastings, by 296,292 votes to 177,512 on a count from 850 of Manhattan's 1,035 districts. Hastings defeat stripped Tammany of its temporary office for the first time in 24 years.

Thos. Dewey

MAHONEY WIRES

It was only a little after 7 p.m. (M.S.T.) when the searchlight atop the New York Times building was signalling the election of LaGuardia and Dewey that Mahoney wired the mayor.

"Congratulations on your victory. May the next four years be happy and prosperous ones for our great city."

Hastings wired Dewey, "Congratulations on your victory."

Laguardia was re-elected on a Republican-Fusion-Labor ticket.

Leaders of Tammany Hall, which in the century and a half of its life always had been able heretofore to beat down any second term challenge to city hall control, were silent for the most part.

OPPONENTS UNITED

The mayor, squat, hot-tongued and politically unconventional, went into power four years ago when the Democratic party was split. This time it was united, outwardly at least, with Postmaster General "Big Jim" Farley, the Democratic National chairman, coming home to New York to stump for the Mahoney ticket.

Tammany's loss of the district attorneyship made its defeat crushing. Dewey had centred his attack on the failure of the former district attorney, a Tammany nominee, to "bust" the leading racketeers out of the city.

It appeared it would be several days—perhaps weeks—before the complete results of New York's first proportional representation election become known. Paper ballots were used in voting on candidates for a new city council which will replace the board of aldermen Jan. 1. Counting will begin tomorrow.

SPANISH AID SOUGHT OVER INTERVENTION

Appreciable Step Forward Marked in Sub-Committee Meet

LONDON, Nov. 3—Temporarily avoiding the issue of belligerency rights, the non-intervention subcommittee unanimously agreed today to seek Spanish insurgent and government approval of the British plan under which international commissions would be sent into their territory to plan and direct evacuation of foreign volunteers.

The resolution, to be submitted to a full session of the 27 nation committee on Thursday, held in abeyance Soviet Russia's reservations against the accordance of belligerency rights until withdrawal of volunteers had been completed.

Further negotiations within the sub-committee will take place on this phase. The other members of the sub-committee have agreed upon such recognition when a "substantial number" have been withdrawn.

While actually not settling basic differences so sharply etched last Friday, when the sub-committee was deadlocked on belligerency rights, yesterday's session was regarded as an appreciable step forward.

In this instance the bills were presented for assent to Lieutenant-Governor Bowen of Alberta, who acts in the place of the King. The Lieutenant-Governor reserved assent and sent the bills to the Governor-General for "the signification of his pleasure." In effect, law officers stated, this puts upon the Governor-General the task of giving the King's assent to these particular measures.

WITHIN YEAR

Hearing of the reference and of the anticipated appeal to the Privy Council must therefore be completed within a year from Oct. 5 when the bills passed the provincial legislature and were presented to the Lieutenant-Governor for assent.

The order-in-council referring the Alberta Acts to the Supreme Court was passed yesterday and the Alberta government was advised of the action taken. Details of arranging the hearing will be worked out by justice department and supreme court officials.

PATTULLO TO PONDER NEW UNION BILL

Workers Also Express Hope Health Plan Will Be Revived

VICTORIA, Nov. 3.—Premier T. D. Pattullo today said his government would "consider" a trade union bill endorsed by a British Columbia Labor convention here last week-end, and that any government action taken on the bill would be "determined on a basis of welfare of all the people."

A brief outlining the convention's stand in regard to the bill was submitted to the Premier by E. H. Morrison, an official of the Electrical Workers' Union. The draft bill itself was presented by V. R. Midgley of Victoria.

LIKE ALBERTA

The bill was drawn up by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, and is already in force in Nova Scotia and Manitoba. Similar legislation is in effect in Alberta, Quebec and Ontario.

It would permit employees to organize themselves into a union free from "undue influence, domination, restraint or interference by employers" and would permit collective bargaining through such trade unions.

Hon. George S. Pearson, provincial Labor minister, told the delegation he would "prefer the New Zealand measure which includes compulsory arbitration."

The brief, referring briefly to state health insurance, said the convention "would like to again be recorded as favoring an act covering all, irrespective of salary or other limitations.

HEALTH INSURANCE

"We regret the holding of the health insurance act, and trust that in view of your (the government's) assurances previously given to the electorate and the results of the plebiscite that you will introduce an act establishing a health insurance scheme."

At its last session, the British Columbia government passed a health insurance act, applicable to all persons receiving salaries between $1,200 and $1,800 a year. Recently Premier Pattullo said the act would not be put in force this year, although electors approved the principle of health insurance "progressively applied" in a plebiscite held with the June 1 provincial election.

SINO WARFARE MAY BE MOVED TO SAFER ZONES

SHANGHAI, Nov. 3. — Negotiations were under way today to move Shanghai warfare away from the fringes of the French concession, where many foreigners make their homes.

A Japanese spokesman told of the conversations to neutralize the Nantao area, just south of the concession. Other members of representatives of a neutral power had approached Japanese with a plan designed to avoid further endangering of foreign and Chinese noncombatants.

Coincidently, foreign military observers reported Chinese lines extending west from the international settlement were thinning, and added that they would not be surprised if Chinese withdrew within a few days from the area immediately around Shanghai.

Canadian-Born Elected Mayor As Democrat

BUFFALO, N.Y., Nov. 3. — Thomas L. Kirk, native of Wyoming, Ont., won the mayoralty race at Buffalo, N.Y., after campaigning on behalf of Franklin Roosevelt's administration.

In his campaign Holling said "drones" were getting the plum on the civic payroll. "I am the toughest guy you have met in dealing with racketeers and doublecrossers," he declared.

KANSAN WANTS SCHOOL DANCES IN CURRICULUM

TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 3.—The art of dancing, which once was banned from Kansas schools, is coming back in such favor that State Sen. Payne H. Ratner of Parsons wants it recognized as an important part of the curriculum.

Ratner's efforts are being made as part of a campaign to exempt extra curricular activities from the state's sales tax. Ratner argued before the Kansas supreme court that a pupil should learn to dance to boast of an education.

The state senator seeks the exemption for admission tickets from the sales tax and also wants football game tickets similarly exempted. The state tax commission board has refused to pay the tax on its school events and the state tax commission has begun mandamus proceedings to force this payment.

"The boy or girl who isn't educated in dancing goes into the world under a great handicap," Ratner said, "and may not be able to hold his own with the youngsters of other states."

At one time in Kansas when Miss Lorraine Elizabeth Wooster was state school superintendent, a campaign to eliminate dancing from school buildings was conducted.

Roosevelt Acts

Peace in Far East Is Object of Parley In Brussels Today

BRUSSELS, Nov. 3.—A new obstacle to settlement of the Far Eastern situation arose last night on the eve of the Brussels conference when China declared she would consider no peace terms which did not provide for Japanese evacuation of Chinese territory.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 3.—"A peaceful" solution of the Far Eastern conflict lies ahead as the primary task of the nine-power conference —now extended to include the representatives of 24 states.

P. H. Spaak, foreign minister of Belgium, formally called the conference to order at 11 a.m. today and it is expected he will preside throughout the sessions.

HOTELS CROWDED

Throughout yesterday crowded hotels of this capital of Belgium buzzed with conversations, gossip and speculation. Foreign Minister Eden of the United Kingdom talked with Norman Davis, head of the United States delegation, for two hours. Later in the day Mr. Davis conferred with Dr. Wellington Koo, chief Chinese delegate.

The British delegation has a double objective in the conference. Britain seeks first of all a peaceful solution. Secondly, she is endeavoring to re-establish the closest possible co-operation with the United States.

GET STATEMENTS

One of the first steps towards a peaceful solution will be to obtain from both Japan and China a statement of what they consider satisfactory terms for a cessation of hostilities.

As Japan declines to participate in the conference, it is realized that long range negotiations with Tokyo may mean loss of time. But the British representatives feel the effort must be made for the sake of peace.

What will happen should negotiations fail is for the time being set aside. It is a bridge nobody wants to cross before it is reached.

Last night Mr. Eden, Foreign Secretary Delbos of France and Mr. Davis discussed the conference procedure with M. Spaak while Mr. Eden also conferred with Dr. Wellington Koo.

TAIYUANFU FALL NOW IMMINENT IN SINO-JAP WAR

TIENTSIN China, Nov. 3.—The fall of Taiyuanfu is imminent, the Japanese North China command declared today as Chinese troops assertedly fell back on the Shansi provincial capital after suffering heavy losses in men and material.

According to a Japanese communique, the Nipponese column driving southward from Tatung in the north is 37 miles distant from the city after bitter engagements in which the Japanese claimed the Chinese suffered 30,000 casualties. Military spokesmen admitted, however, that cold weather freezing small streams and snow in the higher regions, was impeding the drive to some extent.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 3.—Cornelius D. Scully, a lawyer who was re-elected as mayor of Pittsburgh on an avalanche of Democratic votes, greeted his victory as an "endorsement of the principles of the Roosevelt Democracy."

Scully, a registered Republican prior to 1932, ran with backing of the C.I.O. He campaigned with the victorious Allegheny County (Pittsburgh) Democratic ticket on the theme: "Don't let President Roosevelt down."

50 CHILDREN ARE KILLED BY REBEL BOMBS

Nine Huge Planes Sweep Over Crowd of School Pupils

MADRID, Nov. 3.—A Spanish government communique today reported that 180 persons, including 50 children, were killed during an insurgent air raid on Lerida, 75 miles west of Barcelona. Several hundred were injured.

Nine huge tri-motored bombing planes suddenly roared over the city in the late afternoon just as children were being dismissed from school.

CITY IS ROCKED

Explosions after explosion rocked the city as the planes dropped a shower of bombs.

One bomb was said to have scored a direct hit on a primary school. Rescue workers pulled the bodies of 50 children from the demolished structure last night and the search was still not finished.

PEOPLE IN PANIC

The communique said people ran in panic through the streets in a desperate effort to find shelter. Flying bomb fragments mowed them down. The planes' machine-guns swept the streets.

Though 120 bodies have been recovered, the government despatches asserted there probably would be many more, making the casualty list one of the greatest of the Spanish civil war.

Lerida, a city of 43,000 population, lies about 75 miles west of Barcelona, temporary government capital.

Escaping Gas In Room Turns Out To Be Mr. Skunk

NEEDHAM, Mass., Nov. 3.—"Gas has been escaping for an hour and now it's getting worse," Miss Margaret E. Verry informed desk clerk Matthew J. Tocci of the Needham police by telephone early today.

She said she had neither ventured from the second floor of her home nor switched on the lights. As Miss Verry opened the front door for Officer Thomas J. Rooney a few minutes later he agreed "there seems to be plenty of gas all right, only—"

Decision Made at Aberhart's Behest, Says Mr. King

Court's Procedure To Be Enlarged in Taking of Evidence

The question is: "Is bill (name and description of the Act) or any of the provisions thereof and in what particular or particulars or to what extent intra vires of the legislature of the province of Alberta?"

The preamble of the order-in-council states "it has been, and is the avowed object of the government of the province of Alberta since its advent to office in September, 1935) to inaugurate in the said province 'a new and economic order' upon the principles or plan of the theory known as social credit."

Next the order lists 23 acts passed at successive sessions of the Alberta legislature, including three passed at the August special session, "An Act to Provide for the Regulation of the Credit of Alberta," "An Act to Provide for the Restriction of Civil Rights of Certain Persons," and "An Act to Amend the Judicature Act."

UNDER B.N.A. ACT

These last three named, the order sets forth, were disallowed by federal order-in-council in exercise of the government's powers under the British North America Act.

Following disallowance of these bills, the executive council, the third 1937 session of the legislature passed the three measures dealing with taxation, control of credit and control of newspapers. Assent to these bills was reserved by the lieutenant-governor pending advice from the Governor-General.

The order then quotes Premier Aberhart's submission on the measures as having said of the press bill:

"Should there be any doubt as to the constitutionality of the press bill we have no objection whatever to having it referred to the courts along with the question of disallowance."

The order stated further that regarding the other two measures, bank taxation and credit control, doubt existed in the mind of the justice minister as to whether the provincial legislature had jurisdiction. The minister therefore recommended that,—

"Reserving for the time being the consideration of what advice ought to be tendered to the Governor General as to the propriety o' signifying, or withholding significance of, the royal assent to the said bills, he is of the opinion that it is expedient that the question aforementioned should be referred to the Supreme Court of Canada for judicial determination."

The representations of the Alberta government regarding the power of disallowance of provincial acts and the reservation by the Lieutenant Governor of Alberta of certain bills for signification of the Governor General's pleasure have been most carefully considered by the government.

WANT TEST CASES

Briefly stated, the submissions made by Premier Aberhart were that the questions regarding the power of disallowance and the validity of the press bill might well be referred to the courts for decision; that the bank taxation bill and the credit regulation bill can only be properly dealt with by test cases, in order to have the facts brought out in the evidence and that "it is necessary that these two bills become law as soon as possible in order to enable us to proceed with the test cases."

With regard to the question of disallowance, the government had, as already announced, referred this question to the supreme court of Canada, in accordance with Mr. Aberhart's suggestion, and for the reasons already stated by the minister of justice.

With regard to the press bill, the government sees no reason why Mr. Aberhart's suggestion should not be carried out.

MANY DIFFICULTIES

Mr. Aberhart's suggestion that the bank taxation bill and the credit regulation bill be allowed to come into force and be made the subject of test cases in the courts presents a number of practical difficulties which in the opinion of the government preclude the adoption of this course.

The government feels that it is important that a judicial decision as to the validity of these bills be obtained if possible before they are allowed to take effect, and before the expiration of the period of one year within which the assent, if any, of the Governor-General must be given. This purpose would be defeated if the bills were first brought into force and afterwards referred to the courts.

A further difficulty is that the bills could not be brought into operation for the purposes of test cases without at the same time being in force for all purposes, with the result that while the test cases were proceeding everyone affected by their provisions would either have to comply with the same, notwithstanding their possible invalidity, or be put into a position of default, and subjected to penalties, which in the opinion of the government would not be fair to the people of Alberta.

ALL ISSUES

It would be practically impossible to devise test cases which would raise all the points involved, and give every interested person an opportunity of being heard, and make certain that all the issues could be carried through by way of appeal to the court of last resort and determined within the required time. Upon a reference to the Supreme court, however, it would be the hope of the government that with the co-operation of all parties all these ends could be attained.

Apparently Mr. Aberhart's main reason for suggesting that these bills be not referred to the supreme court is that he apprehends that that court would not have power upon such a reference to take evidence as to any facts which are essential for the determination of the issues involved. This is, however, not the case, and it is the government's intention to ask the supreme court to receive such evidence and admit proof of such facts as it may consider necessary.

It is, of course, to be understood that the reference is made merely for the purpose of determining whether these bills if allowed to come into force would be within the competence of the legislature of Alberta, and without regard to any other questions touching the propriety of the governor general's signifying or withhold signification of the royal assent to the said bills, all of which questions will be considered at the proper time.

Premier Aberhart Reserves Comment

Premier William Aberhart on Wednesday reserved comment on the Dominion government action in referring to the Supreme Court of Canada and later probably the Privy Council, the three bills passed at the recent special session of the legislature and on which assent was reserved by His Honor Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen.

The Premier said he would study the statement made at Ottawa by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Premier of Canada, and then would comment.

DIVER SEEKS CAR, BODIES OF FOUR IN VAIN

Swift Running Stream Hampers Operations Pressed Until Dark

ILE MALIGNE, Que., Nov. 3.—Oswald Perron, 60-year-old Chicoutimi diver, was pulled from the Saguenay river here just before dark yesterday after a fruitless search for an automobile believed to have crashed through a bridge here Monday carrying four persons to death.

Occupants of the car were members of the family of Alexandre Gagnon—the 34-year-old father, his 30-year-old wife and two children, Robert, six, and Bertrand, eight.

RAIL SMASHED

The diver was brought to this little Lake St. John district town after a motorist driving across the bridge, linking two sections of Ile Maligne split by the Saguenay, noticed a smashed wood railing at the western entrance of the 300-foot bridge and automobile tracks leading over the river bank.

DIFFICULT TASK

Assisted by two other Chicoutimi diving men, Perron entered the speeding river at midnight when all efforts to locate the Gagnon automobile with grappling irons failed.

Probing the river bed under 20 feet of water, his search in half-hour laps lasted until dark set in. The diver said he would be ready to resume his search after some hot food and a rest.

BAIL FORFEIT AS RED DEER COURT OPENS

Man Gets Suspended Sentence in Theft From Royal Bank

Special to The Bulletin

RED DEER, Nov. 3—Spectators in the Supreme court, which opened Tuesday morning before Mr. Justice Ives, were treated to a colorful little bit of court formality, when one of the accused men failed to put in an appearance.

Sheriff McDonald Millard read solemnly three times, "Thomas Lauder, come into court and answer to the charge against you."

He then went out into the hall, and the same sentence rang through the corridors. In much the same terms, the two bondsmen were called upon to "Bring into the court the body of Thomas Lauder, to answer to the charge against him."

J. Quigg, Red Deer, represented the crown; J. H. McClure, Red Deer, defended Bruce Cressman; A. C. Bury, Olds, was counsel for Malcolm Scott and Fred L. Johnson appeared with no counsel.

Malcolm Scott, charged with the theft of $35 from the Royal Bank, got off with six months suspended sentence. He cashed a $15 cheque for $75, subsequently repaying $25 and has since made good the balance.

Bruce Cressman, a Raven man, was charged with the theft of a roan mare Jack Silverthorn owned and was acquitted. Fred Johnson faced a charge of fraud in connection with the buying of a horse from W. H. McArthur. The judge adjourned the case to Thursday.

DUKE INSPECTS HOUSING PLAN FOR PARISIANS

PARIS, Nov. 3. — The Duke of Windsor toured Paris slums yesterday to inspect a model housing project for French workmen.

In the project, described as "the zone," in the northwest part of Paris, the Duke examined a new apartment block as well as tin and wood shacks around old fortifications.

After inspecting four individual workers' apartments, which he found clean and comfortable, he paid a hasty visit to one of the hovel-like shacks. There was dirt on the floor, boxes were used for chairs and junk was piled in the corners.

Paris has financed a program to eradicate the northern slums. It was one of the buildings erected under this program that the Duke entered. Throughout his visit he stopped frequently to talk to the tenants.

While the Duke inspected slums, the Duchess had fittings of clothes for their American tour.

NOT ONE WIN FOR FASCISTS IN LONDON POLL

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Final figures on London's elections to 28 borough councils showed the Labor party gained control of two councils in addition to holding the 15 they won in the last election, in 1934.

They wrested control of Hammersmith and Lambeth from the Municipal Reformers, as Conservatives are called in municipal government, while holding Battersea, Bermondsey, Bethnal Green, Camberwell, Deptford, Finsbury, Fulham, Greenwich, Hackney, Islington, Poplar, Shoreditch, Southwark, Stepney and Woolwich.

The Fascist party, with many candidates in Bethnal and St. Pancras, failed to register a single victory. Progressives and Independents were entirely eliminated from the borough governments while the Communist party elected but a single member in all London.

Increase in Gasoline Tax Is Urged at Coast

VICTORIA, Nov. 3.—Increase in the provincial gasoline tax was advocated before the British Columbia legislature here today.

Speaking in the Throne Speech debate, C. H. Tupper (Lib.-Similkameen) urged the tax be raised five cents a gallon and the increase earmarked entirely for construction and upkeep of roads throughout the province.

The Similkameen member added he hoped the report of the recent Royal Fuel Commission which investigated coal, oil and gasoline production in British Columbia would result in lowering gasoline costs by five cents per gallon.

This would permit the suggested increase without adding to the motorist's cost, Tupper stated.

War May Even Cut Off Some Budding Shaw, Says Shaw

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.— George Bernard Shaw predicted collapse of civilization in event of another major war, in an address broadcast from London yesterday.

Only two nations—the United States and Soviet Russia—could survive another world cataclysm on the 1914-1918 scale, the Irish playwright warned.

DISTRIBUTION

He declared the roots of universal conflict were in the maldistribution of work and wealth, whereby "millions of laborers die in the workhouse or on the dole after 60 years of hard toil so that a few babies may have hundreds of thousands of dollars before they are born."

Another war of nations "may conceivably knock the British Empire to bits and leave England as primitive as she was when Julius Caesar landed," he said. But, he added, there will be two refuges left for civilization.

No national attack can seriously hurt the two great federated republics of North America and Soviet Russia.

"They are too big, the distances are too great. But what could destroy them? A civil war, wars like the wars of religion in the 17th century, and this is exactly the sort of war that is threatening us today.

BEGAN IN SPAIN

"It has already begun in Spain, where all the big capitalist powers are taking a hand to support General Franco through an intervention committee which they think it more decent to call a non-intervention committee."

Mr. Shaw said he disliked war "not only for its dangers and inconveniences, but because of the loss of so many young men, many of whom may be a Newton or an Einstein, a Beethoven, a Michelangelo, a Shakespeare—or even a Shaw."

Over 11 Millions Loaned For Home Improvement

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 — Loans totalling $11,001,817 distributed among 28,275 borrowers were made during the first complete year of operations under the home improvement plan of the Dominion government, according to figures released today.

The report covers the period from Nov. 1 1936 to Oct. 30.

(Under the plan, the total loanable by chartered banks is $50,000,000. The Dominion government provides a guarantee of 15 per cent of the aggregate value of loans made by each institution.)

Ontario was the heaviest borrower under the plan with a total of $4,702,025 and 12,072 borrowers. Quebec was second with $2,100,000 divided among 4,328 borrowers.

Loans in other provinces and the number of borrowers were as follows: British Columbia 3,063 loans amounting to $1,-009,417; Alberta, 2,226 loans amounting to $951,353; Nova Scotia, 2,337 amounting to $736,-021; Manitoba, 1,963 loans amounting to $714,959; New Brunswick 1,201 loans amounting to $418,308; Prince Edward, 789 loans amounting to $273,094, and Prince Edward Island, 356 loans amounting to $97,342.

BACON TRADE WITH BRITAIN IS FALLING OFF

OTTAWA, Nov. 3—Inability of Canada to maintain her Ottawa exports to Great Britain in recent months has been met in part of increased British quotas to foreign countries, with a resulting decline in the British market for Canadian bacon of about 83.80 a hundredweight, the department of agriculture disclosed today.

Canadian bacon exports to Britain fell from 42,408 live hogs weekly in May and June to 21,513 weekly in September and 25,513 weekly for the first three weeks of October.

To meet this slump in Canadian exports, British increased their foreign bacon quotas by about 3,000 long hundred weight (112 pounds) weekly from September 15 to December 31.

Rabbi Insulted By Toronto Fascists

TORONTO, Nov. 3.—Rabbi Maurice N. Eisendrath charged today Fascists were responsible for pinning a Swastika emblem and a General Cape upon the door of his home here, and asked for a public inquiry into Nazi and Fascist activities in Canada.

Rabbi Eisendrath said the pinning of the cruel sign to his front door followed a campaign of terrorism. Recently a placard bearing a Swastika was nailed to the door, he said.

Patrick H. O'Brien, the C.I.O. mayoralty candidate, conceded his defeat by Richard W. Reading with official returns from half of the city's precincts unofficially tabulated last night.

Throughout most of the night Reading, backed by the American Federation of Labor, maintained a lead of from 4,000 to 5,000 votes from 500 of the 918 precincts gave Reading 145,101 votes; O'Brien 74,042.

ITALIAN ENVOY SEES HOPELESS USE IN PARLEY

BRUSSELS, Nov. 3—In the last few moments before adjournment of the opening session of the nine-power conference on the Far East, Count Luigi Aldrovandi-Marescotti, Italy's chief delegate, today dropped a bomb into the placid waters of peace.

"Since we are here, the only useful thing we can contemplate is to invite the two parties to establish direct contact between themselves. After that we have nothing to do."

Otherwise, the Italian delegate added, the Fascist government must reserve its definite opinion as to the results of the conference, which could only end in platitudinous resolutions in evidence of the powerlessness of the conference.

NIPPONS WOULD END FRIENDLY BRITISH LINK

Rightest Party Wants a Change in Japan's Traditional Policy

TOKYO, Nov. 3.—The Rightist party, headed by General Kunishige Tanaka, today approved a resolution urging a revision of Japan's traditional policy of friendship for Great Britain, which it said had "allowed Britain a free hand in China."

The resolution warned against "a certain section of Japanese opinion which is friendly toward mediation under the patronage of the nine powers," and declared such mediation would cause Japan to "lose forever the opportunity to establish permanent peace in the Far East."

The Rightist paper Kokumin declared "the present ill-feeling" toward Great Britain among Japanese is "unprecedented."

"Since the beginning of the conflict, Great Britain has given China a maximum of support," the newspaper said. "It is therefore impossible to present public opinion as inclining in favor of rupture of relations with Great Britain."

MISSIONARY WAS BOMBED IN SINO TRAIN

Load of British Sailors Under Fire When Bridge Is Hit

VANCOUVER, Nov. 3.—Dr. William H. Grant of Toronto, 25 years a medical missionary in the Orient described today his recent experience of travelling 1,300 miles through central China on a special British train, which had a bridge bombed in front of it by Japanese planes.

Dr. Grant, who arrived here Monday from the Orient with his wife, explained the train, transporting the crew of the British cruiser Capetown from Hankow to Hong Kong via Canton, had been the object of two air raids by Japanese warplanes.

The first raid, he said, took place near Hankow when 13 planes swooped down on the train but did not bomb it when they saw the British flag.

"Twenty-five Japanese planes participated in the second raid, 80 miles north of Canton, and destroyed a bridge in the path of the train."

After the incident Dr. Grant said, the passengers crossed on an improvised bridge and boarded another train for the rest of the journey to Hong Kong.

Strong protests were made to the Tokyo government because both Japanese and British governments had been notified of the route of the British train and had been asked to give it protection.

HALLOWE'EN

Hallowe'en of 1937 will be remembered in Edmonton. Not because of the pranks played by youngsters, for they seem to have kept well within bounds, but because older folks showed less judgment in their use of the streets of the city and highways round about. Here is the record as compiled at the police court Monday morning: one man killed; seven persons injured; four cars demolished; four men held by the police; a hydrant smashed; a lamp post broken off; 22 car accidents; three hit-and-run incidents.

A dark night, rain, glaring headlights, liquor, were contributory causes, but the thing mainly responsible was lack of caution; while the hit-and-run occurrences carry the usual suggestion of recklessness combined with cowardice.

On the principle that prevention is better than cure, it is time Alberta stopped granting drivers' licenses to whoever comes along and wants to buy them, and demanded that applicants show evidence of knowing how to drive and a normal regard for law.

LETHBRIDGE

The Lethbridge by-election will be the first occasion on which the Aberhart Government has had to defend a seat won in the general elections two years ago. There have been three vacancies in the interval, two in Edmonton and one in Grouard. All three of these seats were won by Liberals at the general election. At the by-elections in Edmonton the Government did not have candidates in the field. In Grouard a Social Creditor was nominated, and defeated by Mr. Tremblay.

In Lethbridge, Mr. Hans Wight won at the general elections, over Liberal, Labor and Conservative candidates, who polled in this order. His total vote was 3,700, against a combined vote of 2,941 polled for his three rivals, a plurality for the victor well over half the aggregate of ballots cast.

The coming contest will throw light on the question of whether the Government's prestige has fallen to any serious degree during its two years in office, the first occasion on which that question has been submitted to the voters of a constituency.

SASKATCHEWAN HEARD FROM

Saskatchewan Conservatives have a new provincial leader. Also a new party platform, announced by him. And—if they support the platform—will have a new political significance in their own province and beyond its borders.

Among other things, the program calls for drastic action on the debt question. Private debts, it is proposed, shall be adjusted so that creditors will share with debtors the results of drought and low product prices. And to assure that no urban resident shall lose his home and no farmer his farm, either by mortgage foreclosure or tax proceedings, where the fair value of the home or the farm exceeds the amount of the mortgage debt and the taxes if any.

As to the provincial debt, the new leader says if bond-holders will not accept lower rates of interest it is possible for the Government to reissue new bonds at the same rates and then pass legislation imposing a 100 per cent tax on all interest payments over 3 per cent.

Saskatchewan Conservatives are not, by any means, the only ones who will be interested in these proposals. Former Prime Minister Bennett will experience some positive sensations as he ponders this flat repudiation of his "sound" money tenets. What the leader of the Conservative duet in the legislature of Alberta and of the party in this province will think about this clear-cut declaration for interest reduction it will be interesting to learn.

THE ABSENTEE

While the Government of Japan slighted its associates in the nine-power treaty by refusing to send a representative to the meeting in Brussels, it was and is quite prepared to tell them what they should and should not do there.

On the eve of the gathering a spokesman at the Belgian capital said Japan recommended the delegates to get the conference over with as quickly as possible and get Japan and China to start direct peace negotiations. This may or may not be good advice. In either case it is gratuitous, and in the circumstances peculiar. If it came from a Japanese representative sitting in the conference it would bear the marks of sincerity. Offered from the side line in the name of the absentee, it deserves examination.

The gathering at Brussels is not an assemblage representing countries only casually interested in the Oriental situation and concerned solely with stopping the carnage there. It is a conference of eight of the nine powers which formally pledged themselves to respect the territorial integrity and sovereign rights of China. The first question that should be asked is why the ninth power is absent. It was invited to be present. It rejected the invitation, after mature consideration. Why? That is what the delegates are bound to ask themselves, since no explanation has been forwarded by the absentee.

As for the informal advice that they go about their own business and leave Japan to settle with China, that is something the eight powers just cannot do without striking another blow at world confidence in security based upon international treaties. And that confidence is at a pretty low ebb already. Having gone through the preliminary motions of holding a conference, the eight powers had better do something about arranging a settlement in the light of their joint responsibility to China.

OUR CITY MANAGER

It is unfortunate that the Edmonton aldermen who put over the Fortin deal do not as a body retire this year. Of the six who voted to tie the city up for thirty years to unreduced interest rates, only Aldermen Clevely and Elisha East have reached the end of their terms. Ald. Fry, absent when the vote was taken but favorable to the scheme, has resigned his seat to run for mayor.

Mr. Fortin had all the luck in his battle with the taxpayers. But it wasn't all luck. He may or may not be a financial genius, but as a strategist he is a wonder. His lobbying methods were the most amazingly persuasive ever seen in these parts, where some pretty "smooth" deals have been engineered successfully in years gone.

He induced aldermen who were elected last fall on an interest-reduction platform to vote for no reduction. He got them to say the taxpayers should have no opportunity to defend themselves at a plebiscite on the question of accepting or rejecting his scheme. And he lined up all the Edmonton members of the legislature, with two exceptions (Mullen and Van Allen), to clinch the matter beyond anything the taxpayers could say or do at the time.

It was a victory all along the line. And put over in the face of a popular demand for interest reduction and debt easement such as the country never saw before. And to cap the climax his aldermanic majority was made up of councillors five of whom on the Citizen's Committee ticket would not have to go to the electors this fall or drop out.

The taxpayers are thus deprived of the opportunity to clearly record their opinions of the transaction in retrospect by re-electing or defeating the group who deserted them. However the elections go, there will be four Fortin aldermen in next year's council. And should Ald. Fry, running for mayor, retiring alderman on last year's Citizen's Committee ticket, with Aldermen Elisha East and Walter Cleveley be re-elected, next year's council will include a mayor and six aldermen who approved the Fortin non-reduction scheme and helped put it through with arbitrary disregard to what the taxpayers might think about it.

Taxpayers in some other cities are talking about appointing city managers. Edmonton already has one. Mr. Fortin appointed himself. And he can certainly "manage" things.

Fifty Years Ago

From the Files of the Edmonton Bulletin

On Saturday afternoon, a detachment of police under the command of Supt. Griesbach started from Ft. Saskatchewan to escort two prisoners, recently sentenced to six years in Manitoba penitentiary for manslaughter, to Edmonton, where they were to be turned over to the deputy sheriff. The outfit consisted of several teams and a mounted man. The prisoners were placed in one of the wagons, the other occupants being Sgt. Brooks and the driver, Curry. When the procession arrived at the second Rat Creek, about two miles from town, it was getting dusk. Supt. Griesbach meanwhile had gone ahead and reached town. Just before reaching the woods one of the prisoners dropped his glove out of the wagon and asked the sergeant to get it for him. To do this, the wagon had to be stopped while he went back to look for it. While the sergeant was away, the two prisoners leaped out, one on each side, and started into the woods, at the same time making demonstrations with their blankets that started the horse running away. The driver jumped out after the prisoners and secured the old man, but the young one ran into the woods. Despite the organization of a search party, he is still at large.

THE PRICE SPREADS

Mr. George Bennett of Mannville gave a very lucid explanation at the Chamber of Commerce meeting on Monday, of the much-discussed price spreads between wheat Grades No. 2 and No. 3 Northern. Farmers have been very peevish about this apparent discrepancy and it is well that one of Mr. Bennett's standing should clear up the matter.

Briefly, it is not so much a matter of price spreads as that premiums are being paid for Nos. 1 and 2 Northern to take care of contracts. There is a decided shortage of Nos. 1 and 2 wheat, while there is plenty of No. 3.—Vegreville Observer.

THE BOSS' DAUGHTER

Prof. Robert E. Rogers of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who in the spring of 1929 told his students that the secret of success was to marry the boss' daughter, now admits that the formula is not infallible.

It seemed all right in the spring of '29, but that fall something happened to disturb the status quo. In the spring of 1929, when a young man's fancy lightly turned to thoughts of material advancement, he could feel that marriage with the boss' daughter would insure his future. Even in 1930 he might feel reasonably sure that papa-in-law would co-operate to keep him out of the bread line, but thereafter the ambitious young man, contemplating matrimony, was properly wary of a gal with relatives.

There was always the possibility, as Prof. Rogers now notes, that he might suddenly have to support them along with her. The orphan girl with a job became the preferred matrimonial risk. Other things being equal, she probably has always been and always will be.

Today the young man who wants to climb to the top would reflect long and earnestly before assuming the liability of an employer father-in-law. Hanging over him like a sword of Damocles would always be the haunting fear that the old gent might die, and the son-in-law inherit the business. That would condemn him for life to filling out government questionnaires, reports and statistical blanks, and wondering how to raise the money to pay his taxes.—Chicago Daily News.

"A CRUEL, LYING SHAM"

Each time a decision is come to Signor Mussolini wrecks it. What happens? The government retreat and take up a new position and say, "We are going to stand here." There is another breach of the line, and so they say, "Well, this time we are going to do something." They don't. You have had four or five distinct breaches of the arrangements entered into in the Non-Intervention Committee, and each time the government retreat before Signor Mussolini to take up a fresh position, which they again abandon.

I remember in the course of the war there were about three occasions when the Germans came undoubtedly on top and the British army had to retreat. But official communiques when they came into this country simply said, "We have just withdrawn in order to take up a stronger position"—the actual phrase was, "We are concentrating to the rear." That is exactly the process of this government. They have made no stand anywhere. They have been springing from one position to the other, and they are still concentrating to the rear. (Laughter.)

The question I would like to ask is this: When are they going to make a stand? I have nothing but the friendliest feeling towards Mr. Eden. I have a sort of feeling that it is not altogether his fault. It is environment. (Laughter.) I have been a member for forty-seven years—a pretty long experience of politics and governments—and I say without hesitation that this is the weakest ministry I have seen in charge of affairs in this country. Just see the position Mr. Eden is in.

* * *

Two of the most important men in the ministry apart from the prime minister have occupied the position of foreign secretary—Sir John Simon and Sir Samuel Hoare—both of whom were driven out with the general consensus of opinion on every side of the house because they were complete failures. In addition you have several ministers moved from positions which they held and put in another job because they were failures in the job in which they were first put in. That is not a sufficiently strong ministry to face the greatest crisis that the world has seen since the Great War. It is not a question of principles, but of men needing courage, nerve, resolution and boldness in applying those principles.

Mr. Eden is a first-class chauffeur. (Laughter.) He is intelligent, he knows his job, he is skillful, he knows where he likes to go, but no chauffeur ever can drive when he has an assembly of nervous wrecks behind him pulling at his elbow all the time. (Renewed laughter.) I have been watching the thing, and I say he is not having his own way in the matter.

I would make an appeal, and I am going to offer a word of advice to Mr. Eden. He may say, "It is none of your business.' I say it is. I am one of the senior Privy Councillors of this realm, and it is my duty to my Sovereign and my country to give such advice as my experience of affairs permits me to give. And I give it.

My advice to him is that he should take the course which his conscience dictates, boldly, fearlessly, dauntlessly, whatever his colleagues may say. He will be amazed at the response he will get from every section of the community.

* * *

You must remember that this business of non-intervention as it is called is a sham, a cruel sham, a dishonest sham, a lying sham—everybody knowing it the whole time. It has worked in such a way that those people in Spain who are fighting for exactly those things we have been fighting for for a century here are denied the means to do so.

A democratic government is fighting against one of the most inept, greedy, and oppressive autocracies in the world—the Spanish autocracy. It is not merely a landlord system but an absentee landlord system—a system which grinds the peasants down to the dust. They are fighting for fair play for the multitude there. These people have been handicapped by a system of non-intervention that allows the side of autocracy to get unlimited quantities of munitions and airplanes and get what the other side almost lacks entirely—all delivered lavishly with the addition of expert men from Germany and Italy to work them—and to the other side just a little trickle.

Now they are applying for more time whilst Signor Mussolini is sending troops to Libya. To Libya? Nonsense! They are being sent to Spain, a great many of them.

When is this thing going to end? When are we going to see fair play for people who are fighting for democratic institutions such as we enjoy in Britain, France and the United States, but which are denied to Italy and Germany. If it goes on long enough these poor people will be crushed by the weight of metal supplied by these autocratic countries until you will have an autocratic Europe governed by dictators and every root of liberty torn out of the soil.

When will Mr. Eden get tired of being bullied by these men around him and stand up for what he really believes? If he does he will be the biggest man in Great Britain.

And, by the way, the contention that the Spanish government is "Red" is as false as any other statement made about them. You have in Spain at the present moment a government which is ordinary, which is really a Liberal government, a moderate government. So much so that the Conservative prime minister of Spain in 1931 said at a recent meeting of the Cortes: "I stand by you because you are fighting for the people." What nonsense to call it a "Red" government! (Cheers.)

"Russia not counted, there are 4,000,000 men under arms in Europe today, about twice as many as there were before the world war."—Frank B. Kellogg.

Your Health

By DR. FRANK McCOY

The word function refers to the normal action of any part or organ, hence to its normal working power. By a functional disease is meant one marked by a disturbance in the way an organ is doing its work. Frequently, the functional disorder is not accompanied by any change in the organ itself; that is, no organic disease is present.

A functional heart disorder therefore deals with a form of heart trouble in which there is an interference with the way the heart is doing its work; although structually, the heart may be perfectly sound. As far as the disturbed working of the heart is concerned, the disorder is real; organically, it is unreal.

These functional disorders affecting the heart may cause a great deal of distress and discomfort—in fact, the patient with a functional trouble may experience more discomfort than the one with a more serious type of heart trouble.

The patient who does not understand the difference between the functional type of heart disorder and the organic type is often the victim of a pronounced fear as soon as he learns that a functional disturbance is present. Absorbing the idea that there is something wrong with his heart, he builds up a picture of heart failure and sudden death and thereafter anticipates falling over in the street, or some similar disaster. The fear also tends to make the heart symptoms worse. Many times this needless worry disappears readily when the physician explains that there is probably not the slightest danger whatever of the heart stopping.

The mental factor in these cases is usually very strong and many times the most help the physician may give is to quiet the mind and convince the patient that there is no danger.

I mention this fact to let you know that sometimes the doctor is able to give the patient good news about his heart and to send him home with a great load of worry taken from his mind.

One of the common symptoms seen in the functional heart disorders is palpitation. The person in normal health is unaware of the action of the heart. It may happen that the healthy person may become conscious of the heart beat after he has become over-tired or debilitated, but usually he does not know that he has a heart. The term palpitation may be explained by saying that the heart beats become preceptible to the individual. He becomes conscious of the heart action, and especially conscious of the fact that the heart action is irregular, jerky, rapid or forceful.

The one who is experiencing palpitation of the heart is therefore one who is conscious of a disturbed heart action. Palpitation is frequently found among nervous patients, in whom any strong emotion such as fear or anger, will influence the heart rate. It is an especially common finding in the patient having a cardiac neurosis, popularly called "nervous heart trouble."

Palpitation may be present during attacks of indigestion or may be the result of over-indulgence in tea, coffee or tobacco. It is occasionally found in those having valvular heart trouble; or it may be a finding when the thyroid gland is over-active.

However, generally speaking, palpitation is the result of nervous factors and as such is not at all serious, in spite of the fact that it causes a wild irregularity of heart action which frightens the patient.

In tomorrow's article I will continue the discussion of FUNCTIONAL HEART DISORDERS. Read the next article in this newspaper.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION—Harvey O. asks: "For what reason is one advised to cook all pork thoroughly?"

ANSWER—When pork has been infested with trichina spiralis, the human being eating that meant may develop trichinosis. By cooking all pork thoroughly, the danger of this parasitic infection is entirely avoided.

QUESTION—M. F. inquires: "What could cause a perpetually red nose? Although I never touch alcoholic beverages, my nose is a vivid red color."

ANSWER—The most common cause of a reddish discoloration of the nose is auto-intoxication resulting from the use of foods in incorrect combinations. If this is the cause in your case, you will benefit from learning how to use a correct diet.

QUESTION—Miss W. L. wants to know: "How can I break the habit of nibbling between meals? I am getting fatter all the time."

ANSWER—You are correct in assuming that eating continually between meals is largely the result of habit. Try taking a drink of water every time you feel like eating. Sometimes the plan which works best is to set aside a definite time at which a glass of fruit juice is taken as the juice will make you feel that you have something in the stomach and at the same time will not add weight. If you feel the temptation to nibble chiefly during the afternoon, then choose this time for your daily walk which will take you away from food.

UNFOUNDED RUMOR

Editor, Bulletin: A rumor has reached the writer's ears suggesting that he, directly or indirectly, was connected with the preparation or circulation of pamphlets commonly referred to as the "Bankers Toadies" pamphlets.

The rumor is utterly without foundation in fact.

Permission to have printed for public circulation certain letters written by the writer and appearing in the Edmonton Bulletin, was given to Mr. Unwin, at his solicitation, and request, upon condition that certain sub-headings, not appearing in the original letters, be deleted from the copy submitted for inspection and approval.

Other than as stated above, the writer has no knowledge whatever except through hearsay and the public press of any pamphlets issued by or through Mr. Unwin, or anyone associated with him.

NOTHING TO FEAR

Editor, Bulletin: Quite frequently I see the noun "dictator" in the press. I also see the words nazism, fascism and socialism as though we were fearful of their establishment in our country. But why should we fear? There is nothing for us to fear but fear, the great demoralizer.

As I examine evolution I find that the most helpless and stupid animal is the sheep, who is never so happy as when he has a shepherd and his dogs to watch over him. Such guardianship may be established in Europe, but in this vast country where the very air is impregnated with freedom and liberty through our educational system, it can't be done.

As to socialism, if you will think deeply you will soon see its impossibility. Some find a way of making an easy living by advocating it. Let them, but don't be one of them.

LOUIS E. LaCROIX.

LAW AND FINANCE

Editor, Bulletin: I read the press with more than a passing interest during these trying time. The sooner financiers politicians and others realize the truth and justice of a saying by a famous French physician: "There is only one disease, congestion; there is only one remedy, circulation," the sooner we will advance in health and happiness for the majority. There are too many people who neither think nor vote. Abe Lincoln was a far seeing statesman when he said that after the Civil war the next trouble would be the concentration of wealth into fewer and fewer hands. We may laugh and ridicule politicians, but not statesmen. No matter what government is in, no matter if you are opposed to it, those who have lots of time and can offer any useful suggestions should consider it their duty to do so. What might have been good laws a century ago are of little use at the present time. A clause in the B.N.A. reads "the government of British North America cannot be carried on contrary to the wishes of the people of that country." The people who framed this law must have had loftier thoughts than a Londoner I knew "let things go on as they have."

A Day in Canadian History

By FRED WILLIAMS

The Bank of Montreal is 120 years old today. It was on Nov. 3, 1817, that the bank began business. It was not, as supposed, the first attempt at a bank in Canada. In 1792 three firms of Scottish merchants started a private bank at Montreal under the name, "The Canada Banking Company," but its career was brief. Then in 1808 certain citizens of Montreal and Quebec applied to the legislature of Lower Canada for incorporation as the "Canada Bank," but their bill was rejected. For a time army bills met the needs of the colony until they were completely redeemed and it was then necessary that banking accommodation must be provided. Accordingly on June 23, 1817, nine merchants of Montreal, John Richardson, George Garden, George Moffatt, Thomas A. Turner, Robert Armour, James Leslie, Horatio Gates, John C. Bush and Austin Cuvillier signed articles of association for the formation of the Montreal bank. At the first meeting of stockholders, Aug. 7, it is recorded in the "Resolve Book" that £5,000 had been paid in gold and silver. John Gray, an Englishman, a Northwest trader, was the first president with these directors: Thomas A. Turner (vice-president), John Forsyth, George Garden, George Moffatt, Horatio Gates, Frederick W. Ermatinger, John McTavish, Austin Cuvillier, Jas. Leslie, Hiram Nicholls, George Platt and Zabdil Thayer. The first employees of the bank were appointed Aug. 23: Robert Griffin, cashier; Henry Dupuy, accountant; Henry B. Stone, paying teller, and James Jackson, second teller. Plates for printing the bank notes were procured from Hartford, Conn., brought thence by Mr. Dupuy, together with a print press so that the notes could be made on the bank's premises on St. Paul St., then the main business artery of Montreal. These plates are preserved in the bank's museum, together with some of the first bills printed. The one dollar bill bore on its face a picture of the most modern building in the town—the prison! But Britishers were not content with plates secured from the United States. . . . It was decided to obtain from London, England, another set of plates and to have a certain number of bills struck off "on the best bank paper with 'Montreal Bank' and a watermark 'done as the watermark of the Bank of England notes.'" Four days after the bank opened its doors a military guard protected the property at night for a year until the first peace guardians were appointed by the magistrates. Such was the birth of the greatest bank in Canada, one of the most powerful in the world.

On Nov. 3, 1864, the Confederation delegates, having returned to Montreal from Toronto, formally put their signatures to the resolutions adopted at Quebec, the ceremony taking place in the St. Lawrence hall.

This date in 1904 saw the third victory at the polls for Sir Wilfrid Laurier, but six years later Sir Wilfrid was given a serious blow by his candidate's defeat on the naval issue in Drummond-Arthabaska.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JILL WENTWORTH, heroine, attractive debutante.
ALAN JEFFRY, hero, rising young artist.
BARRY WENTWORTH, Jill's stepbrother.
JACK WENTWORTH, Jill's brother.
SYLVIA SUTTON, oil heiress.

Yesterday: Jill meets Alan again, dines with him and Mrs. Wentworth assumes that Jill has met a rich man!

CHAPTER VI

WHEN a girl falls in love, the first thing she does usually is to go on a splurge of shopping.

This new mood of Jill's — of wanting things to make herself more beautiful — was one Mrs. Wentworth could understand. It presaged orange blossoms and wedding chimes. And so when Jill returned home with more hand-made gloves than she knew what to do with, Mrs. Wentworth overlooked the extravagance. Even condoned it.

Only a man, she decided, could have put that soft, dreaming look in animated Jill's eyes.

Jill had only seen Alan Jeffrey once since the day she found him exhibiting his beautiful paintings to a still hopeful mother and her two daughters. She was going to see him again this afternoon, this time through Jill's own clever manoeuvering.

She had at last located Patty. Not two blocks south of Miss Lancaster's, as Patty had said, but three blocks.

On this particular afternoon, Jill had inveigled Patty, who was not in the least interested in art, into going with her to see Alan's pictures.

Another girl was with them, Ardath Holm.

"I've taken a girl in with me," she said. "Writing books isn't any short route to a Park Avenue apartment. Paying rent for this dump has put an extra wrinkle in my fair brow. So I snapped up this model."

Jill laughed.

"She has a lean and hungry look, this girl," Patty said. "I've sized her up as a man-eating shark. Or sharkess, I should say. She had a French mother and a Swedish father, which might account for a lot of mixed emotions. But wait until you see her."

* * *

Ardath was thin, with flaxen hair, which she wore coiled around her head like a cap, giving her a foreign look. Her eyes were a golden-gray, fringed by black lashes. It came to Jill suddenly, that Ardath Holm was strikingly like a tiger.

Patty immediately liked Alan more than his landscapes, though she admitted they were very good. She won Alan's friendship when she singled out for her most extravagant tribute a picture which proved to be his favorite: "Sun Over Seville," a brilliant study of a Spanish fiesta; glowing, flashing with color, and animated with graceful movement.

"All the colors," Patty said, slowly, "ran right down and dripped from your fingers!"

Jill saw Alan flush with pleasure. She stood back listening to Patty being witty and intellectual. And watching Ardath being quietly "dumb". It wasn't the usual kind of "dumbness," Jill was admitting to herself. Ardath, looking silently at the pictures out of her strange eyes was perhaps registering more than the articulate Patty.

The main thing was that Patty was really impressed and her intelligent interest was heartening to Alan.

"That young man is in a devil of a hole trying to buck this town without friends and without money," Patty said to Jill later at her apartment. Ardath Holm had gone to her room. "He told me he had left his home because he had to leave it. Whatever that may mean. Anyway, he looks as though he has had some bad breaks, and I'm afraid there'll be more of them."

"Don't you think he has a chance here?" Jill queried anxiously.

"He may ybe heaven's own gift to the art world, and I'd still bet he hasn't a chance to earn three square meals a day unless he gets in a better place, where Mr. and Mrs. Money-bags can peek in. It won't help much if you and I and maybe the folks across the hall drop in to cheer him on, will it?"

"No," Jill admitted, slowly. "The thing to do, Patty, is to sell a picture."

"How long do you think $100 or even $200—and I'm boosting the possibility—would last?"

"But Patty," Jill exclaimed, "good pictures bring thousands!"

"Not from any unknown painter. My dear, when did you matriculate in kindergarten?"

* * *

Properly subdued, Jill became inarticulate. But her brain was functioning. A plan was growing. It had started out as a germ planted in her mind by a chance remark of her own. The thing to do is to sell a picture!

The next time she saw Alan was a date.

He had invited her to lunch and they had gone to Miss Lancaster's. She had gone to meet him in a taxi. There were no night shadows to hide a swank roadster, that was damning evidence against her.

She was glad, now, that Alan had not remembered the name "John H. Wentworth," which she had so carelessly given him the day she arrived home. It was a name that stood for the ultra in the order of things he despised. Some day he would have to know. But not until he knew her better and realized that she cared as little as he for elaborate living.

Meanwhile, he must sell that picture.

After the luncheon, Jill went straight to her father's office.

"What's on your mind, young one?"

Jill thought her father's voice sounded a little tired. How gray his hair was, with the light from the window falling on it. Under his keen eyes there were new wrinkles.

"Why," Jill thought with a surge of tenderness, "dad's getting old."

"I was wondering, dad," Jill said, going directly to the point, "if I could be terribly extravagant."

She saw the surprise in her father's eyes.

"I gather you aren't talking about parties and clothes. It must be something very special."

"You want to pay a big price for it."

"Yes."

"Hmm. Is this artist a friend?"

"Yes."

"A man?"

She nodded. "Dad, could I have $3000?"

John Wentworth studied Jill's face. Brains and beauty. Yes, he could trust his lovely girl.

"He must be an extraordinary young man," her stepfather teased, "to have a beautiful girl wanting to play Santa Claus. You won't pay him a cent less than $3000?"

"No, I won't." Jill smiled at him. "I don't mind paying top prices for what I want. And I want this more than anything in the world."

"I used to think you were Scotch," Mr. Wentworth said, "never wanting to spend as much as I wanted to give you. But you are not Scotch at all. Just a big-hearted American girl, trying to smooth over the bumps for an artist chap she's interested in. Do you want the money in a check or cash?"

"Cash, thank you," Jill said, happily. "Besides being so big-hearted, I'm being very careful that he won't know about it."

* * *

"After all," Mr. Wentworth said, "it's your own money. Some day, Jill, you'll be a very rich young woman. I have never told you, but all my fortune, and it's very large, will be equally divided between you, Jack, Barry, and Evelyn. So I guess $3000 is not so much to spend on something you want."

"Don't let's talk about leaving money to people," Jill said with a lump in her throat. "I couldn't bear to think of not having you, dad."

"Sometimes," he said, soberly, "I'm afraid I don't talk over business matters enough with my family. You know Jill, all this money is bound up with the company, dependent upon its success; dependent upon the good will of bank heads who negotiate loans; dependent upon markets and trade relations; affected by the fluctuation of world affairs.

"There have been mad times in the past few years. It has been a battle Jill, but I think the worst of the fight is safely behind. Just the same, we never relax vigilance. Something, some unforeseen crisis, might topple the whole works."

"Dad!" Jill cried, her eyes misty. "I didn't know! We all take everything for granted. We've been so busy being rich, we never stopped to think how hard it is on you. Dad, honestly, if you ever get tired of fighting, I wouldn't mind being poor."

John Wentworth's voice was husky, as he patted Jill's slim hands. "Don't worry your pretty head a moment. The old Rock of Gibraltar could be smashed, I guess. But I have an idea it never will. Our company is just about as strong. And it will be as long as men like Oscar Montanne believe in it."

He left the room. Jill sat soberly for a moment. She was ashamed of the little uneasy prickle along her spine. It was natural for Dad to like Mr. Montanne, who was always ready to come to his aid financially. Just as it was natural for her not to like Mr. Montanne's son, who counted on his father's money to make friends for him.

"Just the same," Jill thought unhappily, "I wish he hadn't mentioned Milo's father just at this moment. It's silly, but somehow I don't feel quite so happy."

She managed to lift smiling eyes as her father entered the room. He handed her a roll of bills, which Jill stuffed into her purse.

"I feel like the sole owner of the mint," she said. A hug and kiss is mighty little thanks, Dad."

"This will," Jill boasted, because it's somebody else's happiness I'm buying."

Aterward, she remembered that boast.

"This is the weakest government I have ever seen," he said. "It is not sufficiently strong to face the greatest crisis the world has known since the war."

THE fact that, for once, the owner of a newspaper and the newspaper itself have brought a successful libel action against another publication does not prevent the News-Chronicle from pointing out that the total damages, $100,000, are, in its opinion excessive and a menace to freedom of criticism.

The case was that brought by Lord Camrose, the owner, and the Daily Telegraph against the Action Press, proprietors and publishers of "Action," a Fascist journal, the Argus Press, which prints "Action," and Mr. John Beckett, its editor and the writer of the article complained of.

The article asserted that Lord Camrose was a 'Jewish international financier with no sense of patriotism, and no loyalty to the Crown, who allowed his duty to the public, as owner of The Telegraph, to be subordinated to his own private interests.

Lord Camrose gave evidence that he was not a Jew but pure Welsh, that he was not a financier, and that he was not interested in any finance company.

* * *

IT further came out in evidence that "Action" was the organ of the British Union of Fascists of which Sir Oswald Mosley is the head. Some question arose as to whether Sir Oswald had seen the article before publication. Mr. Beckett did not give evidence, but, conducting his own case, made certain significant remarks. To begin with he dissociated himself from the line of defence—that the article did not really mean what was alleged—set up on behalf of the other two defendants.

"When I wrote that article," he said, "I wrote it because I honestly believed it to be true. . . . I did not mean it to be the weak, cooing, inoffensive article that Mr. Gardiner (counsel for Action Press) has suggested. If those facts were true which were given to me I meant that article to say exactly what it said. Unfortunately I have discovered that those facts are not true." Mr. Beckett apologized for his attacks on Lord Camrose.

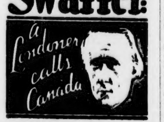

Mr. Beckett parted company with Sir Oswald Mosley some time ago.

houses down there over 30,000 are fire traps. The wooden stairs would go up in flames were there a fire."

PROBLEMS EVERYWHERE

Everywhere the Duke went, could he visit all the vast cities and the countless thousands of small "home-towns," he would find slum buildings, yet always a different problem. Sometimes it is one of race.

As Charney Vladeck took me along Cherry street, he said, "George Washington lived here once. Then, as richer people moved out, poor Americans came in. Then the Irish drove out the Americans. Then the Germans drove out the Irish. Now the Negroes and Slavs have driven out the Germans.

"THE DUKE HISSED"

Then he went on to talk of the Duke.

"Until a few weeks ago, probably 95 per cent of the people in the United States were on the Duke's side. Now he has lost the sympathy of the masses of the workers. That is because of his visit to Germany."

I can testify to that myself because of what I have seen in the cinemas where news reels are shown.

In one, when pictures of the Duke's visit to Berlin were screened, the sight of the Duchess created slight cheering.

Then, directly the Duke of Windsor's face was seen—there came some hisses and what is called here "The Bronx Cheer."

When, a little later, the crowd saw the Duke sitting with Nazi leaders at a workers' concert, the hissing began again.

When there was a close-up of the Duke showing him looking disconsolate, and with that worried look which his pictures so often show, there came loud laughter!

AN IDOL ONCE

Now, when, as Prince of Wales, the Duke visited New York, he was more a public idol than anyone has ever been since New York was first built.

All through the Abdication crisis, and for months after the great mass of the American people sided with him. Their newspapers, their films and the stories they read all foster exaggerated sentiment, and they saw in the Duke's marriage the kind of romance dear to them.

Week after week, crowds visited the modest home in which Wallis Warfield was reared, and women even sat in the bath—for luck!

Then, soon after my arrival when news of his approaching visit to the States was printed, there was great excitement. Wherever I traveled across the continent, I saw, in the local newspapers, invitations to the Duke to "Come and inspect housing here."

Scores of women were interviewed by a paper in Buffalo the day I got there. "I wish he would come to our home," most of them said. "He would love it."

COLUMNISTS BEGAN

Then the columnists started—the men whose personal views are syndicated right across the States.

"We're gonna go for you when you get here, Duke," wrote Cal Tinney.

"You went down the line for your woman and it may not have made a hit with Downing Street, but it did with Main Street. I just dare you to live here. I bet you in two years' time we'll have you in Congress. So . . . .

"C'mon over, Duke, and welcome. We're glad that the England who has our Lindy can spare us their Eddie."

This was a typical one. But then there appeared, literally, columns about the Duke's visit to Hitler and the Nazis.

The New York Times, the most restrained and most influential of all America's daily newspapers, dealt with the Duke's visit at such length that, some days, it printed two small-type columns describing every detail of the Duke's tour.

It said, at first, how, when he was given the Nazi salute, he made a fumbling gesture, but then, a few days later, was describing how when "Hiel Hitler" went up his salute was as official a Nazi one as that given by the Brown Shirts.

It told, too, how by chance he went into an exhibition where Hitler's claims for a restoration of Germany's lost colonies were demanded in big cartoons, and how embarrassed were his Nazi guides.

On Saturday Swaffer will tell why he believes the visit of the Duke and Duchess to the United States is indiscreet.

EVEN GERMAN IS AMAZED AT OUTPUT

Vast Factories Will Give Britain Air Force Second To None'

LONDON, Nov. 3—Eighteen years ago, Lieut. Colonel H. A. P. Disney and Captain W. A. W. Hallam fought together as "buddies" in the Royal Air Force, were wounded at the same time and then lost trace of one another in the post-war readjustment.

Today this pair has been reunited, again in the service of their country. To them most of the credit has been given in organizing and directing the huge "shadow" industry through which Britain hopes to produce an air force second to none.

SOUGHT HALLAM

When Lt. Col. Disney was appointed director of aircraft production by the air ministry, his first step was to search for Hallam.

"I found his name in the London directory and rang him up," Col. Disney said. "He left his job and now we have got things going perfectly."

And the statement has been amply confirmed by the latest report issued by the air ministry on "shadow" factory operations.

Since Earl Baldwin, then prime minister, announced the government's intention of erecting these factories, under a scheme formulated in the spring of 1936, great strides have been made. On bare fields of a year ago five large factories have risen.

VAST UNDERTAKING

The "shadow" factory idea was adopted following review of civil industry by the Committee of Imperial Defence. It found it was desirable to earmark the resources of a number of firms for particular types of production, naval, military, and air, to increase normal resources of supply as speedily as possible in time of emergency.

The scheme approved by the air ministry had a two-fold purpose:

1—To provide part of the reserves of aircraft and aero-engines required under the expansion of the air force.

2—Give the motor firms assigned to the ministry experience in production of aircraft and aero-engines which they will be able to utilize in time of emergency.

To achieve both objectives, new government factories have been erected as close as possible to the parent motor factories. Cost of erecting the plants and installation of new equipment was borne by the government.

PRODUCTION STEPPED

Firms participating in the scheme are: The Austin Motor Company and the Rover Company, both in Birmingham; the Daimler Company, Standard Motor Company and Rootes Securities Limited, whose factories have been built in Coventry.

Production has been stepped up progressively, with prospects of capacity output being reached early in the new year.

Much of the labor has come from the distressed areas. Workers who less than a year ago were lorry-drivers, coal miners, cotton spinners and laborers have reached the semi-skilled stage and are turning out parts requiring operation of the most delicate machinery.

"Our job is to see that airplanes, engines, guns, bombs, even flying belts for airmen are turned out in time," Col Disney explained. "We have to work on the assumption that a war will start tomorrow and we must be ready for it."

GERMAN AMAZED

General Erhard Milch, head of the German air mission that visited the factories recently, expressed amazement over the results attained at the "shadow" factories.

It was difficult to understand, he said, how the program had been achieved without any form of labor conscription or priority over execution of industrial orders.

FASTER SHIPS BURNING NEED, SAYS BENNETT

KELOWNA, B.C., Nov. 3.—Better trade facilities, in the shape of faster ships, were described yesterday by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Federal Conservative leader, as a requisite of continued trade with Australia and New Zealand.

Mr. Bennett, addressing a Board of Trade luncheon in this Okanagan city, said Australia was Canada's third best customer and declared this a result of the Ottawa trade agreements negotiated by his former Conservative government.

"My successors are having trouble in renewing it," he claimed.

Commenting upon the loss of potential leaders through the Great War, Mr. Bennett said older men would "have to stretch themselves a little more and the young people have to take their responsibilities a little sooner."

Mr. Bennett will go directly from Kelowna to Winnipeg.

Heretic Bishop Has Christian Rites

GALION, O., Nov. 3. — The church which declared him an heretic, unfit for its episcopacy, gave refuge to William Montgomery Brown in death yesterday.

The Protestant Episcopal funeral service was read over the body of the 82-year-old former Bishop of Arkansas, and his soul was consigned to the mercy of the Lord Jesus Christ whose existence he had doubted in published expressions.

Immigration Officials at Vancouver Have Problem

VANCOUVER, Nov. 3—Canadian immigration officials here today told of the latest immigration puzzle—an East Indian father, his Mexican wife and American-born son, who collectively have no legal right in any country.

The man, alleged to have entered the United States illegally, married a Mexican girl in Texas who also had no legal entry to the United States.

The child was born in the United States and later the trio entered Canada without legal sanction.

The father as a British citizen could be deported to India but that country will not accept his wife or son.

United States admits the son may claim citizenship but will not have the father or mother.

Mexico will accept the mother but will not have the father or son.

The family, whose names officials withheld, said they were unwilling to separate.

Cheap Pullover Displayed In British House

LONDON, Nov. 3—A cheap, imported pullover sweater diverted the House of Commons at question time yesterday.

R. H. Turton, a Yorkshire Conservative, asked Oliver Stanley, president of the board of trade, about protection for British manufacturers against imports of sweaters which he said were retailing at about sixpence each.

Mr. Turton pulled out one of these pullovers which was passed from hand to hand around the Conservative benches, amid laughter.

Gravely, Mr. Turton asked the speaker to remind the house it was not a "shop counter." The house roared.

Scourge Recurs

TORONTO, Nov. 3.—Three new cases of infantile paralysis reported to the Toronto health department today brought the total for the city since June 10 to 744.

MONTREAL MAN CHARGED WITH WIFE'S MURDER

MONTREAL, Nov. 3.—Louis Viau, 44, was charged with murder today immediately after a coroner's jury held him criminally responsible for the death of his 45-year-old wife, whose mutilated body was found Friday night on a lonely Charlemagne road. Police said it had been tossed from a motor car.

Fifteen witnesses testified at the inquest, including Andre, 10-year-old son of the accused, who identified as his father's property a machinist's hammer found near the woman's body. The mother's head had been battered.

Sea water not only fails to quench thirst, but actually hastens the death of the person drinking it.

FORT WILLIAM MAN DIES FROM KNIFE ATTACK

FORT WILLIAM, Nov. 3. — City police today pressed investigation into the knife-slashing of William Oshust after taking three men into custody for questioning concerning the case and later charging them with vagrancy.

Two constables rushed to a house in the coal dock district yesterday, in answer to a telephone call, and found Oshust lying dead on the dining room floor. Two women, Mrs. Mary Madaniuk and Miss Clara Paloski, and a boarder, Joseph Ostafe, were in an adjoining room when police arrived.

Police said the trio told them Oshust had been called outside, where a fight ensued. He was stabbed in the yard and staggered into the house, where he collapsed. There were two knife wounds in his chest and his head was slashed.

TORONTO MARGIN CHANGES

TORONTO, Nov. 3—Effective Thursday, Nov. 4, members of Toronto Stock Exchange are authorized by the exchange to reduce margin requirements generally.

As at present stocks selling under $1 will not be marginable, but stocks selling at $1 and under $4 may be carried on a 40 per cent. margin. The present margin requirement is 50 per cent.

There will be a minimum of 65 cents a share.

The new requirements call for 33 1-3 per cent. margin on stocks selling at $4 and under $40 and 30 per cent. on stocks selling at $40 and over.

Gold hoardings in India are such that no one can accurately estimate the amount; the common estimate, however, sets it at above $5,000,000,000.

Australian Bridge Airforce Enlistment

SYDNEY, Aus., Nov. 3.—So great has been the response to a call by the Australian Air Force for recruits for the City of Sydney squadron that applicants are being rejected because their qualifications are too high.

More than 800 men, between the ages of 18 and 35, reported at barracks, on a recent Sunday, to seek commissions in the non-flying branches of the squadron. "Bachelors of Science and men with equally high qualifications are coming forward to enlist as airmen," the commanding officer said. "It obviously would be uneconomic to accept them in that capacity."

Sheep-Dog Yards Fox

SYDNEY, Nov. 3.—A sheep-dog at Boyeo, Australia, recently achieved the feat of yarding a fox. After a lot of tactical manoeuvering the dog edged the fox into the sheep yard, but it leaped the fence. Again rounding it up, the dog worked it into a pig sty, and guarded the entrance pending the arrival of a man with a gun.

STINSON NOT TO BLAME FOR HOPE'S DEATH

Hotel Employee Died From Natural Causes Jury Finds

A verdict clearing S. J. Stinson of all blame in connection with the death of James Hope, 50, for the past six years floorman at the Transit hotel in North Edmonton, who died of a heart attack Thursday evening last, was brought in by a coroner's jury after 20 minutes deliberation at the conclusion of an inquest held in Howard and McBride's undertaking parlors Tuesday afternoon.

A technical charge of manslaughter which was laid against Stinson following Hope's death will be withdrawn when he appears in city police court Friday, it was learned Wednesday.

The charge was based on information received by police to the effect that Stinson had struck Hope following an argument which had occurred about an hour before Hope's death.

MERELY SHOVED HOPE

Evidence of Stinson himself, corroborated by Dan McIntyre, employer of Hope and eye-witness of the alleged incident, was that Stinson had merely shoved Hope. The man did not fall, both witnesses averred.

"They were arguing. I saw Stinson put up his hand and 'shove Hope back. Then I stepped between them and kept them apart," McIntyre stated.

"Hope was a very good friend of mine. But we had an argument over money. The argument became a little heated. I said 'I don't want to argue' and shoved him away from me," said Stinson.

SURRENDERED TO POLICE

Stinson said he left the hotel immediately after the incident. He did not know of Hope's death until he heard the police were looking for him several hours later, he said, "then I got R. F. Jackson, my lawyer, and surrendered to the police."

Physical cause of death was attributed by Dr. J. W. MacGregor, University of Alberta pathologist, who performed the autopsy, to coronary sclerosis, or hardening and thickening of the blood vessels connected with the heart.

Questioned as to whether excitement or emotion an hour before death would have contributed to or hastened it, Dr. MacGregor replied: "I would say excitement that long before would have subsided in an hour. I do not think that it affected it." His opinion was concurred in by Dr. T. H. Field, who was present when Hope died.

TEXT OF VERDICT

Text of the verdict was: "We (the jury) find that J. Hope came to his death by natural causes without any proof of previous contributing cause." Members of the jury were John Clift, foreman, Francis Taylor, Horace Milner, W. K. MacDonald, Harry Challanger, and George Bagnall.

Dr. F. A. Keillor, district coroner, presided. J. E. Brownlee, K.C., appeared for Mrs. Hope and W. J. A. Mustard for the hotel. Witnesses were John Stinson, Dan McIntyre, J. L. Hazard, Dr. T. H. Field, Dr. J. W. MacGregor, Constable J. E. Peterson. Coroner's officer W. McDonald investigated the case.

OBJECTION IS SUSTAINED BY COMMISSIONER

Counsel Sought To Establish Communistic Policies Ruled Down

Mr. Justice A. A. McGillivray refused permission to G. B. O'Connor, K.C., counsel for P. J. Rowe, M.P., to ask Frank Wagner, deposed mayor of Beverly, if town elections were not controlled by the Communist vote, at Tuesday afternoon's sitting of the Royal Commission appointed to inquire into the present financial affairs of Beverly.

Mr. O'Connor was seeking to establish that communistic policies ruled the town's operations. Mr. Wagner refused to answer the question when first put to him, while H. A. Mackie, K.C., counsel for the mayor and deposed counsel, took objection to it on the ground it was not relevant.

MONEY PROPERLY APPLIED

Mr. Wagner admitted he was at a meeting in which Mr. Baines member of the firm of Harvey and Morrison, auditors, had reported that all money received by Beverly, Limited, had been properly accounted for and properly applied.

The deposed mayor would not admit that a ditch, built to drain off water, had been undertaken as a relief measure and was being paid for on relief work wage scales. He adhered to his statement that it was understood the workers were to receive the usual prevailing rate for this work.

He also stuck to his statement that Mr. Rowe obtained from the miners just before Christmas 1932 portion of their wages to pay off a mortgage on the mine property and not to reimburse the town for advances made to Beverly Limited.

QUESTIONED AT LENGTH

Mr. Wagner was questioned at length on his evidence regarding a letter from the Board of Utility Commissioners regarding diversion of town funds to Beverly Limited, and said he had no knowledge this letter had been submitted to the town council on August 3, 1932 by Mr. Rowe and that council decided at that meeting to call a special meeting of ratepayers to discuss the matter.

Mr. O'Connor asked the witness if he had not attended this meeting and had spoken in favor of a resolution declaring confidence in Mr. Rowe. Mr. Wagner admitted he had done so, but added that he did not know officially at that time that money had been diverted from town funds.

INSURANCE POLICY

Questioned regarding a life insurance policy taken out by Mr. Rowe for protection of miners' wages, Mr. Wagner said Mr. Rowe had assured the workers they would be protected through this policy, but later it was discovered that the policy was not made out to Beverly Limited, but to Beverly Coal Company. He did not consider this policy would afford any protection to the workers, nor would he admit that a mistake had occurred in taking out the policy. He said he "did not know what was in Mr. Rowe's mind when the policy was taken out." It was made clear by Mr. O'Connor that the Beverly Coal Company was not in existence when this policy was executed.

Closing his examination of the witness, Mr. O'Connor recited the many complaints made by Mr. Wagner, which the latter alleged had a distinct bearing on the present financial affairs of the twon.

SPECIAL MEETING

Mr. Wagner recalled a special meeting at which Mr. E. I. Clarke, now owner of the mine, had stated "I'm the terrible Ed Clarke and I will foreclose the mine tomorrow."

Questioned on this remark by Mr. Steer, counsel for Mr. Clarke, Mr. Wagner stated that Clarke had been very severely criticized at this meeting. He admitted it was the same man who later made an offer to the trustees in bankruptcy which would have salvaged a considerable amount for shareholders and miners from the Beverly, Limited bankruptcy. The hearing is continuing.

NORTH FLYING CLOSED DOWN FOR SEASON

Ice Now Forming on Great Slave and Athabasca Lakes

"Down river" flying has definitely closed for the season. The "in-between" season has set in.

Goldfields, Yellowknife, Great Bear lake, the river fur posts of the Athabasca, Slave and Mackenzie and the Arctic will remain without transportation until after freeze-up.

YUKON MAIL OPERATING

The Yukon mail, however, is still operating with a pontoon-equipped plane but this service, operated by United Air Transport, is expected to be suspended shortly.

Ice is forming on Great Slave and Athabasca lakes and is running in the Mackenzie river at Fort Simpson, it is learned at local air company offices.

PILOTS "FREEZING IN"

Pilots Jack Wright, C.A.L., and Archie Vanhee, M.A.S., are "freezing in" at Yellowknife, pilots North Sawle, C.A.L., and Alex Dame, M.A.S., at Goldfields.

Last words of the airmen to the residents of the northern outposts were in the spirit of the well known prospectors' song, "We'll be with you when the ice worms nest again."

9,267 JOBLESS IN PROVINCE REGISTERED

Registered unemployed in this province on Saturday last totalled 9,267, according to figures released on Wednesday by officials of the Alberta Employment Service.

This is a slight decrease over the figures for the previous week, which were 9,394.

Calgary again led the province with 3,928 males and 520 females. This city was second in order, with 3,370 males and 347 females. Lethbridge ran in third place with 505 males and 43 females. Medicine Hat was next with 302 males and 57 females, while Drumheller registered 187 males and eight females.

The Inquiring Reporter

The day of the college graduate as only a "white collar" worker is ancient history now, in the opinion of Herbert G. Smith, dean of freshmen at a university in the United States.

Do you subscribe to this feeling?

PIERRE COTE, mining student: If any person really thinks that university students feel themselves above manual work, he just needs to get around the country in the summer. He will see them engaged in every sort of manual occupation. This also provides them with field work which is valuable training for the higher posts in industry.

• • •

RUDY HEUSS, commercial pilot: If university men today were to be "hold-outs" for "white collar" jobs, they would be "hold-outs" for quite a while. To get anywhere nowadays, college men must start right alongside their rustic brothers. They'll eventually get more altitude, of course, if they have the power.

• • •

DR. J. A. ALLAN, professor of geology: My experience has been that there has been a big change in recent years in the attitude of college graduates to ordinary work—and rightly so. Graduates now do not feel that they are reserved for the more advanced types of work.

• • •

DR. WALTER MORRISH, M.L.A., surgeon: Most men going through college have a definite idea of what they want to do. Men who are training for such vocations as engineering or agriculture as a rule have no objection to doing any of the hard work that is necessary to learn their business. There are others, however, who are training for "white collar" work, such as law, teaching or medicine. While they might work at anything during their undergraduate days, I can't visualize them sacrificing their training to take laboring jobs after they graduate.

Doctor Acquitted Of Fund Fraud

TORONTO, Nov. 3.—The crown today dropped all charges against Dr. Gordon W. Armstrong, member of the bbard of education charged with obtaining medical relief funds by false pretences.

Several of a series of charges against Dr. Armstrong were heard and in each case the charge was dismissed. At the crown's request, remaining charges were dropped.

Fair Weather To Continue Here

Forging ahead of local temperatures, thermometer readings in the near north at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday broke into the forties, the highest reading in the region at that time being 45 above, at Keg River, while the lowest mark was 12 above, at McMurray.

In Edmonton, the forecast at 9 a.m., with the thermometer at 35 above, was "fair and not much change in temperature." The highest reading in the city on Tuesday was 45 above, registered at 2 p.m., and the lowest reading up to 9 a.m. Wednesday was 27 above, marked up at 3 a.m.

Listen Inn

Alice Frost, to paraphrase the Mahomet legend, couldn't go to the mountain. So the mountain came to Alice. At least Walter O'Keefe, host of Town Hall Tonight, heard Wednesdays over the NBC-Red Network, had to do a bit of mountain moving recently in order to keep Alice in his stock company. In fact, a cast of 80 persons changed rehearsal schedule for the convenience of the versatile actress.

South Side Hears Pleas From 33 Civic Candidates

First Broadside in Coming Campaign Preceded by Dinner

First shots along the municipal election front were fired Tuesday night at a dinner meeting of the South Side Business Men's Association in the El Patio Hall, Whyte avenue, when 21 of the 33 mayoralty, aldermanic and public school board candidates spoke at a meeting numbering about 70. This special meeting preceded the official election campaign which opens Wednesday night.

One of the highlights of Tuesday night's meeting was a verbal passage between Ald. Blair Paterson, South Side barrister seeking an aldermanic seat, and Ald. Guy Patterson, who is contesting the mayoralty.

SCORES ALLIANCE

The aldermanic candidate scored what he termed "the unholy alliance" between the Social Credit and Communist parties in the forthcoming elections. There were many Social Crediters, he believed, who did not believe in these two political groups being linked up for municipal election purposes.

Answering the charge, Ald. Patterson declared the "old bogey of Communism is being drawn as a red herring across the trail." He appealed to all political groups to co-operate for the improvement of conditions and maintained that only through a union of progressive parties would such conditions be improved.

All the mayoralty candidates—Mayor Joseph A. Clarke, John S. Cowper, Ald. John W. Fry, Ald. Guy Patterson and Frederick J. Speed—and the school board contestants, as well as the majority of aldermanic and school board contestants, were present.

MAYOR PRAISES

Speaking early in the meeting, Mayor Clarke said he wished to express appreciation of the cooperation and friendship of the South Side businessmen, and compliment the merchants on that side of the river for the progressiveness they displayed in the annual sports gathering.

Turning his attention to civic matters, Mayor Clarke dealt briefly with his seven-point program, main plank of which, he said, was the proposed reconsideration of the Fortin plan. "Let me say at the start that the real issue in this campaign is the question of financing city requirements and the one steps to be taken in meeting our bonded indebtedness," he declared.

"As far as the Fortin plan is concerned, some of the aldermen declared nothing would satisfy them excepting a reduction in interest on the bond debt. They later found themselves unable also later refused to refer the high interest debt extension plan to the electors for a decision.

CITY WINS ACTION FOR LICENSE FEE

Defalcations by a government clerk in 1935 had repercussions in district court Tuesday afternoon when the City of Edmonton was successful in an action brought against Mike Demchuck, Edmonton butcher, to recover $29.50.

Mr. Demchuck was paid for groceries and meat with a cheque the endorsement which had been allegedly forged by the government clerk. The cheque was regularly signed by responsible signing officers of the government, but had been irregularly issued.

The defendant in the action paid the cheque to the city for a butcher's license. It was accepted and the license issued.

Later, when the irregularities in the cheque were discovered by the government, application was made to the city to repay the province on the false cheque. This the city did, and started suit against Mr. Demchuck to collect the license fee.

Giving judgment for the city His Honor Judge Crawford stated "The defendant obtained his license with worthless cheque. He is in the same position as if he had bought gold. He should have paid the license fee in good money when called on. There will be judgment for the city for the amount claimed with costs."

Canadian Corps To Take Part In Armistice Parade

More than 300 members of the Canadian Legion Association attended the organization's regular meeting at the Masonic Temple on Tuesday evening, when arrangements were discussed for participation in the annual Armistice Day services and parade.

Arrangements also were discussed for the annual nominating meeting to be held on Dec. 7, when candidates for office for next year will be placed before the meeting.

It was also decided that the Association would present a musical program and sketch at the Masonic Temple on Dec. 11. Col. F. Stewart-Dunn gave an illustrated lecture on his recent visit to the Orient, giving many interesting delights in view of the present military activities there.

Coronation Crowds

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The first half of Coronation year attracted a record number of visitors to Britain, it is announced. The total of foreign visitors, 116,317, was 15,000 more than the previous record.

In some Swedish country homes the tablecloths have names. They are named after long-dead women from whom the patterns originally were obtained.

Disdains Guns

CITIZEN PICKS BIG MUSHROOMS IN HIS GARDEN

Though November usually sees ground frozen hard and often blanketed with snow, this year it brings forth mushrooms.

William Walker, 12227 105 street, telephoned The Bulletin to say that on Tuesday, November 2, he picked four mushrooms from his garden.

They were big ones, too, measuring six inches across their fanned tops, he reported. From a sheltered spot in his garden, Mr. Walker has been getting mushrooms regularly for several weeks.

DUCLOS RITES SET FOR FRIDAY

Funeral services for Augustus Francis Duclos will be held from the Connolly and McKinley funeral chapel, Friday, at 3 p.m. The body will be forwarded to Ottawa for interment.

Mr. Duclos, who lived the greater part of his life in Quebec, came to Edmonton four years ago to live with his son, Sergeant Ben Duclos of the Edmonton police force. He died after a short illness at the age of 82.

Mr. Duclos is survived by one daughter, Mr. Barrett Scott, Seattle; seven sons, Austin and Ben, Edmonton; Jack, Lloydminster; Harvey, Portland, Sidney, Nelson, B.C.; Murray, North Bay; and Ralph and William, Ottawa; two older brothers, Rev. J. E. Duclos, Edmonton; Dr. A. A. Duclos, Chicago and a sister, Mrs. S. Boy of Montreal.

Taxpayers' Branch Of League Is Aim

At the regular meeting of the Riverdale Community League held Monday it was decided that special efforts be made to form a taxpayers branch of the League it being felt that a committee representing the taxpayers' interests would be a helpful addition to some of the problems confronting the community.

Poor lighting facilities on the steps leading from Roland Road and also the dangerous condition of these were matters referred to the secretary to be placed to the city commissioners' attention.

It was suggested in a humorous way that the candidates for civic honors be asked to abandon their cars at the top of the steps and walk down on the evening they are scheduled to speak at the Riverdale school thereby gaining first hand information as to the conditions complained of.

The recreation committee are all lined up for a good season and all committees are looking forward to one of the best winter season's activities.

NO ADMISSION BEVERLY TOWN BUDGET PADDED

Hon. Charles Cockroft Had Threatened to Appoint Administrator

No explanation was given by Fred Wagner, deposed mayor of Beverly, to the Royal Commission inquiring into the present financial affairs of the town as to why the 1936 estimates submitted to the Minister of Municipal Affairs showed increased revenue from school and municipal arrears of taxes of approximately $7,000 when only $2,600 had been collected from this source in 1935.

He would not admit the budget had been padded to stave off appointment of an administrator at that time (the letter submitting the budget to the minister was dated February 8, 1936), as had been threatened by Hon. Charles Cockroft, then minister of municipal affairs.

COMMUNICATION DISCUSSED

Mr. Wagner told the commission that a communication from Mr. Cockroft had been discussed by council, and a resolution passed that an endeavour should be made to collect 50 per cent more on current municipal and school taxes, and 15 per cent more on arrears, in an effort to balance the town's budget. It was considered that a more aggressive tax collection campaign might result in this objective being achieved. Actually the 1936 tax collections, current and arrears, were slightly in excess of the 1935 collections, it was disclosed.

The communication from Hon. Mr. Cockroft, sought from Beverly Council a promise that efforts would be undertaken by the council to meet liabilities to Edmonton hospitals and also liquidate debts owing to the province for unemployment relief and social service payments, made on the town's behalf by the provincial government. The budget with increased taxation proposals was submitted as a result of this communication, it was disclosed.

COUNSEL OBJECTS

H. A. Mackie, K.C., counsel for the deposed council, objected to this inference drawn by J. J. Frawley, K.C., counsel for the provincial government that the 1936 budget was prepared to stave off the appointment of an administrator.

S. H. McCuaig, K.C., intimated a most important stage of the enquiry had been reached when this matter was before the commission, and that the fullest investigation into this budget should be pursued.

T. B. Major, secretary-treasurer of the town, was recalled to give details of instructions given him by the council for the preparation of the 1936 budget.

MATTER OF POLICY

Pressed for an opinion on the increased tax collections, Mr. Major said it was a matter of council policy, he only followed instructions.

Continuing, his examination, Mr. Wagner said he understood from E. J. Fream, public utility commissioner, that if an increase in acreage tax rate was made to increase revenue, appeals would probably be successful. He admitted the city was not sought on the question of whether an undertaking with a $3 an acre rate maximum effective for 20 years from 1936, would hold good in law.

TOTAL AMOUNT

Objection was taken by Mr. Frawley to the statement that miners lost $71,000 in wages when Beverly, limited went into bankruptcy. This was the total amount of the company's liabilities, he stated. This statement was made by Mr. Wagner early in the sittings, and repeated Wednesday during cross-examination relative to the loss sustained by the miners through exempting Beverly, Limited from carrying bond to indemnify miners for loss of wages if the company went bankrupt, or ceased operations.

DRUMHELLER, Nov. 3.—A lone mule, housed in a stable 100 feet below the surface of the Hygrade mine, near here, escaped death in a fire which took a toll of 35 pit ponies yesterday.

Flame-singed, the mule was brought to the surface by mine firefighters who subdued the fire before it could spread to the workings.

Nine of the ponies were burned to death, mine workers said, while the others were asphyxiated.

CITY CHARTER REQUIRES ALL STORES CLOSE

Remembrance Day is Proclaimed Statutory Holiday in Dominion

Remembrance Day, Thursday, November 11, being a statutory holiday, proclaimed as such by the Dominion Parliament, Edmonton shops are required to close on this date, according to an interpretation of the act in the city charter covering this point. City Solicitor Thomas Garside said Wednesday the charter provided that shops must remain closed throughout every holiday.

It was learned Wednesday that the larger retail stores would likely close on Remembrance Day, as has been the practice for the past three years.

The Hudson's Bay Company announced it planned to close on November 11, assuming that the other large departmental stores would follow the same practice instituted in former years.

Manager Cecil S. Sutherland, of Johnstone Walker Limited, and Manager John M. Ferguson, of C. Woodward Limited, both stated a decision on the closing of their stores would be made Thursday, November 4. Mr. Ferguson said Woodward Limited would close if the other large departmental stores adopted this policy.

The T. Eaton Company, Limited, said a statement as to whether its store would close November 11 would also be issued Thursday.

Mayor Joseph A. Clarke will probably make an announcement later this week covering store-closing on the Remembrance Day holiday.

It is expected that banks, schools and all government and civic offices will be closed.

Intruder Is Snared By Girl's Quick Wit

HAMILTON, Nov. 3.—Police said today Miss Mary Christmas outwitted an Intruder.

They said she had forced a stranger from her apartment, where he had come "looking for a man named McGinnis," and one then had watched him through the door's way as he entered the nearby apartment suite of Mrs. Agnes Dixon. Mary Christmas telephoned police, then followed her quarry, who was picked up by police in a radio patrol car.

Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines is a visitor in the southern part of the province, as is Hon. D. B. Mullen, minister of agriculture. The two will meet at Pincher Creek on Wednesday night for a meeting and will then proceed to Blairmore for a meeting on Thursday. Following this they will start for Hinsberg and expect to be back at their offices on Saturday.

G. M. CORMIE IS FIRED: CALGARY MAN SUCCEEDS

Hon. D. B. Mullen Announces C. W. Traves As Poultry Commissioner

Appointment of C. W. Traves, B. Sc., of Calgary, as provincial poultry commissioner, in succession of G. M. Cormie, who was dismissed from the post after holding it for several years, was announced on Wednesday by Hon. D. B. Mullen, minister of agriculture.

The new appointee is a city native and will take over his duties immediately.

"In reorganizing this branch under Mr. Traves, renewed efforts will be made to assist the poultry industry in general," declared Hon. Mr. Mullen in announcing the appointment of Mr. Traves.

UBC GRADUATE

The new poultry commissioner is a graduate in agriculture of the University of British Columbia, specializing in poultry husbandry. On graduation he joined the staff of the British Columbia agricultural department as poultry instructor. Later he resigned to become manager of the Nelson branch of the British Columbia Poultrymen's Co-operative Exchange.

From this position, he joined the Sales and Poultry Service staff of the Swift Canadian Packing and Grain Company, where he remained until 1932.

FEED SPECIALIST

He then accepted the management of the poultry branch of the Provincial Hatcheries and more recently has been supplying manure and feed specialist with the Crown Grain and Feed Company, Calgary.

"Mr. Traves' appointment," the minister comes to the department well equipped in training and experience to undertake the difficult work of directing the poultry branch of the agriculture department."

CONTESTED ELECTION

During the last Calgary municipal election campaign Mr. Traves contested the city commissionership but was unsuccessful.

Mr. Cormie was dismissed by the minister on Tuesday.

He has been a leading member of the poultry industry for years.

In a letter to Mr. Cormie, dated Nov. 2, Hon. Mr. Mullen states that:

"I wish to advise that your services will be dispensed with after Nov. 3. In lieu of notice, you will receive one month's salary."

NO REASONS GIVEN

No reasons were given and Mr. Cormie stated he would seek none.

Mr. Cormie has been connected with the poultry industry in this province for more than 20 years.

He represented the Dominion poultry interests in this province with headquarters in this city, for 11 years. When the amalgamation of Dominion and provincial poultry services took place in 1928, he joined the provincial service, remaining until now.

He will likely continue in the poultry business.

DR. ALEXANDER RESIGNS FROM U.A. FACULTY

First Appointee to University Staff Going To California

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Board of Governors of the University, the resignation of Dr. W. H. Alexander, head of the department of classics and dean of the faculty of arts and sciences, was presented and regretfully accepted.

Dr. Alexander was the first appointee to the University staff and has been continuously in charge of the classics department since 1908; he was promoted to the deanship just a year ago, when the post became vacant through the decease of Dr. W. A. R. Kerr to the presidency of the University.

Dr. Alexander has accepted the position of senior professor of Latin in the University of California, from which he holds the degree of Ph.D. The call from his old university must be regarded as a very great compliment to Dr. Alexander's high reputation as a classical scholar. His going will be a great loss not only to the provincial university, but also to this community, where he has for many years played the role of a good citizen actively interested in all forward movements.

Dean Alexander will remain at his post till the close of the summer session of 1938.

Police Court

Pleading guilty to a charge of assaulting his girl-friend, Helen Megley, by striking her in the face with his fist and kicking her, John Chapor, 27, was sentenced to serve two months in Fort Saskatchewan jail when he appeared before Magistrate A. H. Gibson in police court Wednesday.

Chapor, wearing a purple shirt over a red sweat sweater and sporting side-burns and long, flowing hair, smirked all the time he stood in the box. Asked by the court where he came from he replied, "From the old country, 12 years ago."

"What do you work at?" asked the court.

The two month sentence imposed upon him is the maximum permitted by law.

* * *

Adjournment until November 10 was ordered in the case of Anna Milton, arrested Tuesday on a charge of vagrancy. She pleaded not guilty when arraigned in city police court Wednesday.

* * *

An opal, measuring 6½ by 2 inches when roughly dressed, and claimed to be the finest in the world, was discovered in the gem field of Lightning Ridge, Australia.

Resigns

DR. W. H. ALEXANDER

Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences and first appointee to the University of Alberta staff, who has resigned to accept a position at the University of California at Berkeley.

PROTEST MEET ON SINO-JAPAN SNAG APPROVED

Action of the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council in taking the initiative in calling a city-wide conference to draw attention to the Sino-Japanese situation and to protest against any action on the part of any nation which would tend to work against the preservation of peace and the principles of democracy and humanity, has received the warm approval of the Chinese Benevolent Association of Edmonton.

Thanking the Trades and Labor Council for its awakening action and keen sympathy Eddie Y. Wing, English secretary of the Chinese organization has written Secretary Alfred Farmilo of the Labor body expressing the gratitude of the Chinese colony in Edmonton.

"The political situation in the world today, is such as to cause grave concern and anxiety to all the peoples of the world who wish to live in peace and unite with their fellow neighbors. Those who cherish their freedom and recognize and respect the equal rights of their fellow neighbors, must work together for the triumph of law and order, so that peace, justice and confidence may be restored to the world. The stand taken by the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council definitely reveals itself to be in sympathy with the world-wide movement to seek a permanent solution to the present evils of the world," says the letter sent by Secretary Wing to the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council.

HUGE TOTAL OF CROSSES ON BALLOTS

Voters Should Mark Approximately 374,000 Crosses Election Day

Statistically - minded citizens will be interested in ballot-marking figures estimated by Returning Officer Alfred Russell, who declares that if the Edmonton election rate runs true to form on November 10 there should be a total of approximately 374,000 crosses marked on mayoralty, aldermanic and school board ballots and the plebiscite and money bylaw questions.

This is how the returning officer figures it out: The number of electors eligible to vote is 87,350, but an average taken from former elections shows that only about 30,000 are likely to vote.

30,000 ON MAYORALTY

This would mean 30,000 crosses on mayoralty ballots, 180,000 on aldermanic and 120,000 on the Public School Board. There is no vote on Separate School board trustees, four candidates having been elected by acclamation to the four vacancies on the board.

On the same basis, there should be 30,000 votes on the getmore question of whether the mayor should be named from the aldermanic board instead of being elected to that office.

11,412 BURGESSES

A total of 11,412 burgesses are eligible to vote and as only burgesses are permitted to vote on the money bylaws—the proposed construction of a $3,000,000 airport hangar and the installation of a $25,000 police signal system—it is estimated another 14,000 crosses will be marked on the bylaw question.

Commenting on ballot-marking, he reminds electors that voting on any occasion is the cross (X) system only. Any other marks on the ballots will make them invalid.

ONE MAYORALTY

Electors must vote for only one mayoralty, six aldermanic and five separate school board candidates, there being a total of only 12 vacancies. Those voting for more than the number will have their ballots rejected. For instance, an elector marking six aldermanic candidates instead of six will automatically spoil his or her ballot.

Bishop Nelligan Is Honored When Maritime Association Members Entertain At Dinner

CHARLES LEO NELLIGAN, Bishop of Pembroke, familiarly known to Edmontonians in his former post of Vicar-General of the Edmonton diocese of the Roman Catholic church and well loved throughout the city in patriotic, educational, church and social circles for his charm as a speaker and fineness as a friend, was complimented on Tuesday evening, when members of the Maritime Provinces Association, of which he has been an active member for some years, entertained at a farewell dinner in the main dining-room of the Corona hotel.

More than 300 guests were present to pay their compliments and to say good-bye to His Lordship, who leaves for Eastern Canada shortly.

GAILY INFORMAL

Yellow baby chrysanthemums adorned the individual dining tables around which the guests sat chatting gaily with their friends. Good humor, fellowship and informality so evident at all Maritime functions, pervaded the atmosphere and many were the amusing anecdotes and stories told of former years in the provinces by the sea.

Seated at the head table with His Lordship were the president of the association, Mr. Joseph Morrison, and Mrs. Morrison, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Grant, Dr. G. Fred McNally and his daughter, Miss Jean McNally, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Ogilvie, Rev and Mrs. Spurgeon M. Hirtle, Mrs Walter D. Trainor, Mr. G. A. Campbell, Professor McIntyre, Mr. J. B Howatt, Mrs. Jack Bowen.

WARM TRIBUTES

Mr. Joseph Morrison, who was chairman, spoke warmly of the part Bishop Nelligan had played in the life of the association and of the loss to the organization at his going.

Mr. James H. Ogilvie also spoke of the cotnribution His Lordship had made to his parish, his church, and to the Association, and pointed out that Bishop Nelligan was only one of the many men from the Maritimes who have served Canada brilliantly.

Dr. G. Fred McNally, who in his capacity as deputy minister of education has been actively associated for some years with Bishop Nelligan, spoke of the generous co-operation and understanding that had always existed in their relations.

GRACIOUS REPLY

Deeply grateful of the honor that had been bestowed upon him Bishop Nelligan in replying to the various speeches mentioned the pleasure he had always had in the association and of the most kindly remembrances he would always treasure of his years of membership in the club.

Vividly interspersing his little talk with anecdotes, little bits of poetry, and touches of homely comedy, Bishop Nelligan spoke of the ties that bound so closely together all of the maritimers. 'Love of the sea and the thrill of having association with persons from your own part of the country, even if you had not known them before . . that is the secret of your organization, which will carry you on to even greater successes and happy times in the coming years," he said.

Presentation of a handsome time piece was made to His Lordship by Dr. G. Fred McNally.

You Can't Keep House Without Him

PATTERN 5942.

"Where, oh where has my little dog gone?" See him perched cockily on the border of the scarf, or sitting pretty in each corner of the bridge cloth. What fun it is to do him in plain embroidery, or in simple applique, the embroidery chiefly in running and outline stitch. Even though he'd make a "doggy" Christmas gift, you'll want to keep him yourself!

In pattern 5942 you will find a transfer pattern of six motifs 4 x 5¼ inches, applique pattern pieces, and four small bridge motifs; color suggestions; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches used.

To obtain this pattern send 20 cents in coin to The Edmonton Bulletin, Household Arts Dept., Edmonton, Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

Has The Church An Answer? "Yes", Noted Author Says In Inspirational Address

WORRY, poverty, drought, war—Has the Church an answer to the gravest ills of the day? Nellie McClung, whose books have interpreted the west and its people to the rest of the world as perhaps no other literature has done, whose delightful articles in The Edmonton Bulletin and other Canadian publications have won her hosts of friends across the Dominion, asked that question and answered it in a stirring address under the auspices of the Edmonton Presbyterial of the W.M.S. in McDougall United church on Tuesday evening.

CHALLENGING ADDRESS

Intensely human, intensely sincere, Nellie McClung talked, as she writes, "straight from the shoulder," and when she concluded the audience rose and made the building re-echo with their singing of the beautiful old hymn, "The Church's One Foundation . . ." They had replied to the challenge thrown out in her simple statement, "Oh, the Church can answer these things alright—but it'll take every one of us—every one."

"Only ten per cent of the people," she had accused them earlier in her lecture, "attend ANY church. Not that I think church attendance is an absolutely accurate spiritual thermometer—but we are not half enthusiastic enough about what we have. You people who like to come to church, who feel better when you've been—how many of your friends have you invited to come to the next service with you?"

ANSWERS IN THE BOOK

"Ah, yes," she continued, "we know what we should do—but we have been remiss. As the Lady Tweedsmuir says in her new book, "The Scent of Water", it is the "massed pressure of human stupidity that is crushing us." We must confess our national sins and face our problems—the answers are in the Book. Not in the back of the book, as in the old arithmetics but through the Book, in its teachings.

Worry, and its synonym, fear—fear of what someone will think, or someone will do, fear of what is going to happen, are perhaps our greatest problems. But you won't get "too tired to stand up and too strung up to sit down" through work and worry if you put things in God's hands, said Nellie McClung. Let things happen—they will anyway—and do your best about them afterwards. Make friends with the "tigers" that are pursuing you.

THE DROUGHT

"I have lain awake at nights and wondered what sort of case I could make out for God to the drought sufferers—people who have just shot their horses for instance," said Mrs. McClung. The ministers in that area, however, have found an answer—they're staying, every one of them, and are guiding their flocks. The crops may have failed, but the people haven't and the church hasn't

As for the race question, the idea of anglo-saxon superiority must be abolished—God plays no favorites.

Do not be discouraged, do not put up your hands and say there will always be wars, there will always be depressions, human nature cannot be changed. Human nature can be changed—Christ was so sure of it that He died for it.

Mrs. A. P. Wheeler, Presbyterial president, acted as chairman for the evening, and warmly introduced the speaker, Mrs. A. D. Richard moving the vote of thanks.

MUSICAL SELECTIONS

Mr. Lyle Roper entertained with violin selections during the evening and a quartette composed of Mrs. George Hudson, Miss Violet Cumming, Mr. W. J. Angus and Mr Pritchard, sang delightfully.

Rev. A. K. McMinn led the opening prayer.

New Bishop Is Honored By Sodality

Saying au revoir to Bishop C. L. Nelligan, over 90 members of the Children of Mary Sodality of St. Joseph's Cathedral entertained at a delightful party recently.

Father Malone expressed his personal thanks to Bishop Nelligan for the valuable advice and guidance he has received during the past six years.

The tea table was attractively decorated with purple and gold chrysanthemums and during lunch Miss Doris entertained the guests with musical selections. In charge of arrangements were the Misses K. Norrington, Helena Maher, K. McGrath, Margaret McDonald, Stella Toohey, K. Hawkes, Ellen Marie Foy and Dorothy Prausa.

Dr. W. Hardy Tells Story Of Mayas

Remarkable stone cities, marvellous sculpture and art, showing evidences of skilled craftsmanship, a knowledge of astronomy, and a highly developed mathematical sense. . . . Certainly not the products of a primitive culture, such accomplishments indeed belonged to the Mayas of Central America, whose very interesting story was told by Dr. W. G. Hardy in his second lecture of a series on "Cultural Beginnings" held at the University of Alberta on Tuesday evening.

LOST CIVILIZATION

Under the auspices of the Edmonton Museum of Arts, Dr. Hardy gave his initial lecture recently on the legend of "Lost Atlantis," a romantic story of a lost civilization. As one of the practical proofs of its actual existence, the similarity between the Mayas of South America and the Incas of Peru is offered, both supposed to have their origin in this lost civilization, and Dr. Hardy in subsequent lectures is continuing the story of each.

Existing far back into the B.C. era, developed probably out of the barbaric cultures in its own areas, the highly developed Maya civilization occupied a great triangle, the apex of which was Honduras in South America, and the base in Mexico.

RETURNED TO JUNGLE

Happy and contented, with a high culture, the civilization lasted until 610 A.D., when for some unknown reason they abandoned their great cities to return to the jungle, and through 60 years a great immigration took place.

Thus when captured by the Spaniards in 1542, the high point of their civilization had been passed and the Spaniards met a decadent civilization, but still the people whom the Spaniards conquered and absorbed into their own civilization were more civilized than their conquerors.

PHOTOGRAPHER TO SPEAK TO CANADA CLUB

"A Camera Conversation" with Mr. T. G. Jaycocks, more familiarly known as "Jay," staff photographer of Saturday Night is the treat in store for members of the Women's Canadian Club at their luncheon meeting in the Macdonald hotel at half past twelve o'clock on Friday afternoon.

Born in Scotland, John Paul Jones was a captain in the United States navy, served as a rear admiral in the Russian navy, died and was buried in France, and 100 years later his body was removed to Annapolis, Maryland.

Situation In The Far East Is Reviewed

Launching directly into the program of work and study which will engage their attention during the winter and spring months, members of the Women's Liberal Club, met in the Hudson's Bay Company building on Tuesday afternoon. In the absence of Mrs. A. H. Gardiner, the president, Mrs. E. T. Bishop presided.

Mrs. William A. McConkey, president of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, gave a spirited and interesting review of the Sino-Japanese situation at present during the afternoon.

NOT REAL "WAR"

"'The North China Affair' is the title given to the war in China," began the speaker, "and the reasons for the 'affair' in the words of the Japanese themselves are 'to establish the foundations for a firm and lasting peace.' Japan, has not, then really 'declared war'."

Where once the desire and need for land for the seventeen millions of its population was evident, such is not now the case. Japan has Korea, Manchuria and Jehol for her surplus people. She has also been extending into the islands of the Pacific.

Named an aggressor by the League of Nations, Japan may be hindered in her taking of Chinese land by embargoes being placed on the export of war material, and by a boycott of Japanese goods in the British Empire, the Dutch Empire and in the United States. With these, her great markets closed to her, she would be compelled to withdraw from the conflict, concluded the speaker.

ELECTIONS CONDUCTED

Business of the afternoon was concerned with the nomination of members to fill the vacancies on the executive and with the appointment of conveners of the standing committees. Results of elections to places on the executive will be announced at the next meeting, it was announced.

Named to fill positions of conveners of committees are the following: Mrs. J. L. Bernard and Mrs. A. Vaillancourt, social committee; Miss Jean Boyle, educational and membership committees; Mrs. Kenneth A. Blatchford, Hansard; Mrs. B. Armstrong and Mrs. G. Gardiner, and Mrs. E. T. Bishop; to the Local Council of Women, Mrs A. Roberge, Mrs William Wright and Mrs W. Brown.

The December meeting of the Liberal Club will be in the form of a tea for new members, in the Hudsonia.

MEN LOVE PEPPY GIRLS

IF you are happy and peppy and full of fun, men will take you places. If you are lively, they will invite you to dances and parties.

BUT, if you are cross and lifeless and always tired out, men won't be interested in you. Men don't like "quiet" girls. Men go to parties to enjoy themselves. They want girls along who are full of pep.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood, 2. Preparing for motherhood, 3. Approaching "middle age."

Your Children - By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

When a child on the street deliberately tries to annoy other children, there is something wrong

In order to get at causes of meanness, it is necessary to go into the psychology of impulse. What is most important to us when we have the urge to throw things or kick something? Almost always the former.

O. R. Barton

Recently I wrote an article about a stone-thrower. The community got tired and called in the law as a last resort. I spoke of the responsibility of the parent who should substitute himself for law where such children are concerned. But how about the neighbors? Do they not represent the society that the child is antagonistic to? Have they no responsibility? Decidedly so.

To go back to the stone-thrower, or spitter, or name-caller; he is usually letting off a grudge rather than trying to hurt. If we pick up a vase and hurl it, we hope secretly that it will not cut anyone. Our only reason in smashing it is to relieve our feelings.

THE GESTURE COUNTS

If the cause of our fury is removed, we instantly lose the desire to be mean. The child who throws stones is in exactly the same fix. Moreover, if slighted or neglected, he also calls attention to himself by these primitive methods. It is not the last arc of the thrown stone that counts with him, as much as the gesture that starts it. It is the difference between real viciousness and a pitiful attempt at establishing importance.

Mothers usually have something like this to contend with, in their community. There is almost always one child who makes life unhappy for the rest. The children don't like him, or her, and show it. The lonely one resorts to meanness, of course. We have just discussed the reasons.

If such is the state of affairs on your street, there is one way, mothers, to get around it, as did John in my other story. John call the police, but that is not the answer.

ONE OF THE CROWD

Why not bribe the child? By this I mean many things, for instance trying to give him his chance. Ask him in to play. Invite him to have cookies and milk. Let him see that he is not a rank outsider, but one of the crowd. Conspire with your own and the neighborhood children to make him feel more important. Maybe you will get your reward only in heaven, but it is the right and wise thing to do. It is worth while always to help any child to a decent opinion of himself. His sense of honor will come to the fore, not by continual snubbing, but through sincere kindness. Forget what his own parents should do. Try to reclaim this child on your own responsibility.

Children who feel that they count in the scheme of things, quickly lose their pent up jealousies. They lose that urge to explode and throw things or call names. At any rate it is worth trying, even though it may not always work as you plan. Mothers have a responsibility to other children as well as their own. It is our duty to do what we can.

This is the first of twelve special articles on "Slashing the Cost of Living."

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Rising food costs without a corresponding rise in income have produced an increase in the cost of living about 15 per cent. Should women rise up and attack the politicians? Should they boycott butcher shops and hold out until prices drop down to where [illegible]

BOYCOTT HAS DISADVANTAGES

A boycott is a two-edged weapon and the inexperienced might easily cut themselves. Whenever women have refused to buy groceries or meats in protests against high prices, prices have eventually dropped for a time. But it is not as simple as it looks. The local butcher may have to cut his prices to dispose of [illegible] on hand, but the large packers may just sit tight and lock their refrigerator doors. It's the little fellow who takes the rap, not the big one. And if the housewives' boycott lasts very long, the family suffers from lack of essential and expected items in the diet.

The question now is, can we maintain our Canadian standard of living in the face of the high cost of living? Too much of our "standard of living" is composed of waste and self-indulgence. Canadians love a good prime roast of beef. We regard porterhouse and sirloin steak as a national birthright. Both loin lamb chops and rib chops seem to be the inherent privilege of any good citizen and a leg of lamb for Sunday dinner is little more to us than a flavorsome weekly habit.

MUCH OF CARCASS LEFT

But all these choice cuts put together do not use up the entire carcass of the beef or lamb which was sold to the wholesaler on the hoof and by the total weight. Mark that point—the animal from which your choice cuts are cut was sold by total weight, not by the weight of sirloin steaks and loin chops. Someone has to feed and pay for the rest of the meat which the spoiled Canadian taste turns up its nose at. Do you know who feeds and pays for the meat you do not eat? You do.

A lamb usually weighs from 40 to 45 pounds. The rack from which rib chops are cut weighs from 5 to 6 pounds, the loin which provides choice loin chops weighs no more than 7 or 8 pounds and the legs for Sunday's roasts come to no more than 7 or 8 pounds. The butcher, remember, had to buy the entire lamb, weighing 45 pounds. But you will use only about 24 pounds of the 40 or 45 pounds which he paid cash for. Will he take the loss? Would you?

In the wasted 15 or more pounds of meat on that lamb carcass are chuck or shoulder and breast, as well as heart, tongue, liver, brains and kidneys. If you want to maintain a good table and still not annihilate the family food budget, you must learn to use up all the carcass.

Veal is a meat too little appreciated. Leg, loin and rack chops everyone likes; but shoulder, breasts, brains and kidneys, if used regularly, too, afford not only delicious variations in the diet but bring down the costs of the more familiar cuts.

CROSS RIB IS FINE ROAST

And with intelligence, you can prepare a cross rib of beef, which is a clear piece of meat from the shoulder, into a tempting Sunday roast. Chuck rib, too, can be roasted. Short ribs, flank steak and chuck steak all belong in the list of usually unwanted cuts, but cuts paid for in the price of the more favored sections. That is why there will be a series of articles on this practical subject.

How can you change your food habits? Your husband doesn't want any cheap cuts and he won't eat liver or any other of "those things." That's what he thinks. In the series of twelve articles of Slashing the Cost of Living, I shall try to convince you with selected recipes and specially worked out menus, so that unfamiliar and low-priced cuts can be introduced to your family without any protest on their part and without any lessening in the nutrition value of your meals.

ALL ACCESSORIES ARE INTRIGUING

IT'S A MOST intriguing season. Hats are trimmed with ribbons, posies, veils and fancies. Often they have velvet facing the brim, and velvet bows ending in funny little streamers, while a veil is draped over the tiny brim. Schiaparelli sponsors velvet mitts to match the crown of a formal hat, and the "red velvet" lipstick and nail polish complete the intriguing fashion-wise picture.

Gloves and other accessories have an even greater costume importance than ever before. First given style significance with color last year, they have gone on to a highly developed consciousness of styling, and color is definitely established. Other accessories follow suit.

There are, however, the good old standbys looking as trusty as ever and dressed up with new little tricks to greet the new season. Gloves, for instance, as the leather-laced beige suede kid gauntlet, at the top of our picture, mated to a smart navy gabardine sandal.

Below that is a delightful squatty bag that holds enough to satisfy even a business or professional woman. It is coupled with a pigskin hand-stitched gauntlet to match the bag, which is pigskin in hazel—a sunburned shade.

The two-faced glove combining two leathers will be very smart. The kinds of leathers determine the type of glove. Glace kid and suede for instance, as dress leathers, are made into afternoon gloves. Sturdier leathers, such as glace Kasanova and suede Kasanova, are used for sports, travel and street wear. Smooth leathers wear so much better than suede leathers, that these gloves are practical as well as smart.

NEW GLOVES

The new gloves are not the novelties of several seasons ago. They are trimmed with taste. They are original, smart and discreet—definitely dressmaker gloves.

They reflect the femininity of dresses and suits—even the most tailored. Hand-whipping, hand-sewing, hand-embroidered motifs abound. Old-fashioned stitches—cross and feather-stitch—have been revived. In cross-stitch two silk threads of different colors are used to give a tweedy effect.

According To Culbertson

By ELY CULBERTSON

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The following hand occurred during a regular meeting of a weekly foursome. The writer, who was playing in the South position, ran the gamut of emotions from an absolute zero of depression when dummy went down, to a full 100 per cent. exaltation when the hand 'broke' as it did.

"What we want to know, however, is whether this hand was made through good management, good luck, or poor defense.

North, dealer.

"West led the spade jack. Dummy won with spade king and took two rounds of hearts, after which declarer went into a protracted huddle. Six tricks with high cards were all that could be counted, and yet if hearts could be established, and an entry set up in declarer's hand, something still could be salvaged from the wreck. Dummy led a small club to declarer's singleton king, and a heart was led around to East's queen, dummy discarding the spade ace! Now it was East's turn to go into a trance, or perhaps I should call it a coma, for he came out of it to lead his last spade, which was gobbled by declarer's queen. Three hearts were taken, accompanied by chortles of unholy glee. Declarer led a diamond around to East, who was forced to give up the ninth trick to dummy's club ace.

"Yours very truly,
"M.C.B., Fox Chase, Pa."

This hand is one of the most interesting I have encountered lately. Decidedly, I should say, the contract was made through good management, aided and abetted, of course, by good luck.

Declarer's plan of discarding the blocking spade ace in dummy on the third round of hearts, thus raising his own spade queen to the master card, was admirable. The subsequent play would have been even more interesting if East, upon winning the third heart, had recognized the truth and had attempted to keep declarer out of his own hand. It then would have been a battle of Titans and although declarer, if he played very carefully, would win, the contest would be touch and go. If East had returned, instead of the spade, the club queen an elaborate series of throw-in plays would have resulted, declarer taking pains, however, to hang on to his all-important diamond eight and its guards. Dummy would win the club queen return and throw East back on lead with the jack. East in turn would exit with the club eight. Dummy would cash remaining clubs, and lead a high diamond. Whether East won or delayed winning, he would have to concede dummy two of its four diamonds, or allow South to make his spade queen.

Readers can have a lot of fun setting up the cards as they lay playing the first five tricks as they were played, and then attempting to "escape" with East's hand.

Write your bridge troubles and problems to Ely Culbertson, care of this paper, including a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

DOROTHY DIX Says:

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—You say that when a son of a household won't work, drinks, sponges upon the other members of the household, that they should turn him out of doors and force him to work or starve. No doubt that is true, but what are you to do when you love the wastrel? We have such a brother. He is everything that is unworthy, but we still love him, perhaps the more because he is so weak. If we turn him out, where would he go? His friends in dissipation don't want him. We do at any price. We would give anything to put him on the straight and narrow path, but harshness won't do it. Threats won't do it. Kindness won't do it. Entreaties won't do it. Nothing will ever do it unless he himself makes up his mind to reform. How, then, will your remedy work?

HIS BROTHER

Answer:

It probably won't work because nothing short of a miracle can put principle and decency, self-respect and strength of purpose into a weakling. But to throw such a one on his own resources is the only chance that is left to save him, because when it comes to the final showdown almost every one would rather work than starve. Just as long as a lazy ne'er-do-well knows that he is going to be fed and clothed and housed and taken care of, just so long will he sit on the do-nothing stool and let his foolishly fond family work and support him.

I have known whole families to sacrifice themselves and wreck their lives for a prodigal who was not worth killing. I have seen old mothers denying themselves every comfort to give money to a drunkard when they knew he would spend it on whisky. I have seen mothers force their frail, delicate daughters to support a big, husky loafer who would lie in bed half the day and spend the other half in poolrooms and saloons. I have seen splendid young men kept poor, forced to give up all thought of marrying and having homes of their own, because it took all they could make to continually pay some unprincipled brother "out of trouble" and keep him out of jail and from the punishment he deserved.

And I don't think it is worth while. I don't see why the industrious should toil to support the lazy. I don't see why the worthy should be sacrificed for the unworthy, or why the sinner shouldn't be made to pay the price of his sin. I believe that families simply foster the vices of their prodigal sons when they kill the fatted calf for them, clothe them in glad raiment and supply them with money so that they never need to control their appetites, or make any exertion, or do anything they don't want to do.

"He that will not work, neither shall he eat," says the Good Book, and many a temperamental youth who can never find any work that just exactly suits him, and who changes from occupation to occupation because there is always something in what he is dabbling at that grates on his finer nature, would roll up his sleeves and go to work and stick to his job if he knew that if he didn't he would be in the bread line and have to sleep on a park bench.

It is a wonderful and beautiful thing, the love of a family that makes it cherish the black sheep and toil to support it, but it is a wrong thing because it takes away from him every incentive to reform. It puts a price upon wrongdoing and weakness.

Debunker

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph.D.

People who play only the piano usually believe that the notes C sharp and D flat are one and the same thing because they are both played on the same black key of the piano. However, people who play such stringed instruments as the violin and cello know that these two notes are not the same, and are played in different positions. There are several distinct notes that can be played between C sharp and D flat. In fact, there are many in-between tones between all of the notes of the standard scale and modern music is making more and more use of these so-called "off-tones."

Have Sound Reasons For Beauty Routine

By ALICIA HART

Every woman who cares about her appearance and spends time trying to stay young-looking and attractive ought to have a good sound reason for every minute of time she does. It's a waste of energy, not to mention money, to do elaborate routines which never were intended for your particular type of face or complexion.

If you know perfectly well that you are one of those fortunate persons who never will have to worry about a sagging chin line or fullness below jawbone, why waste your time patting underneath your chin or bothering with a "patter"? You'll be wiser to concentrate on the skin around your eyes or the faint lines from nose to corners of the mouth. These are what thin-faced people with pointed chins generally are confronted with. If you can't decide just what routines to do, better consult a facial expert.

Have a reason for picking the particular shade of rouge you like to wear. Or the face powder or nail polish. And remember that "because Mrs. So and So wears it" is no reason at all.

Don't adapt current fashions in beauty or clothes unless they are really suitable. Probably one of the reasons the Duchess of Windsor is one of the best dressed women in the world is that she always buys a costume because it is flattering to HER—not because she has read that it is the latest craze. Her recent choice of evening dresses with high necklines to hide the thinness of her chest and shoulders in a season when very decollete effects are widely publicized, proves this.

It often is a good idea to pattern your hairdress after the coiffure of a famous woman of your type. But be sure that she is your type. Also that the hairdress is suited to your mode of living. You may resemble faintly some well-known actress, but don't copy the elaborate coiffure she wears in a costume picture and wear it to your office. If you must mimic her, at least find out how she wears her hair when she isn't working in a costume picture.

Hazel-eyed brunette Adele Girard has an unusual occupation for anyone, let alone the 21-year-old daughter of the concertmaster for Victor Herbert. She plays swing music on the harp with Joe Marsala's peppy orchestra. Tall and poised, the stunning young musician realizes that her hair really is her best feature. She massages it thoroughly once a day, has a shampoo once a week.

What To Do

Will you please tell me how vegetables that are served in a side dish should be eaten? I mean a vegetable dressed with a cream sauce. Should a fork or a spoon be used? Your answer will settle a much-argued question. GERTRUDE F.

Answer—Only in restaurants do we expect to meet the side dish today. On a correctly appointed table vegetables are now served on our plate and we eat them with a fork. But when vegetables are served in a side dish they are also eaten from the dish with a fork. Occasionally we see persons using a spoon in a determined effort to get up every drop of sauce, until it seems that even the decorations will disappear from the china. But any of the cream sauce that does not cling to the vegetables should stay on the plate and go back to the kitchen. It's a sad fate for a delicious cream sauce, but, instead of using a spoon, why not accept another helping?

McGUIRE KAYOES LEWIS IN FOURTH

SPORTS BULLETIN

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

The Answer — The Next One — Juniors Ready

THE lot of an official in any sort of sport is a tough one, but the toughest role of all is that of being a fight referee in Edmonton. It is as much as a person's reputation, past and future, is worth if he steps into the ring as the third man. Jerry Delane found that out last night.

The howl that the folks raised over Delane sending Tiger Lewis to a neutral corner in the second round when McGuire was helpless on the ropes was enough to make a wolf pack sound like whimpering puppies. However, Delane was absolutely right. The Edmonton Boxing Commission, appointed by city council, named Delane as referee. The commission also printed plainly on the permit for the fight that it should be fought under the Queensbury and Edmonton Commission rules. Delane accordingly had to abide by those rules.

On page 10 of the rules and regulations of the Edmonton Boxing and Wrestling Commission appears the item covering the incident that aroused all the contention last night. It states that a boxer shall be considered "down" when hanging helplessly on the ropes. This is amplified by a paragraph which states: "A boxer hanging over the ropes is not officially down until so pronounced by the referee, who can count the boxer out either on the ropes or on the floor."

Delane was about to start counting McGuire out as he hung on the ropes when Lewis rushed in to land the finishing blow. Delane stopped him and ordered him to a neutral corner. There was no other alternative. Lewis did not understand this rule and thought he was fighting under the U.S. system, which provides that the count does not start until a fighter is on the canvas. That is the all there was to the incident.

Personally I doubt if McGuire would have been counted out even if Delane had started the count the minute he went to the ropes. Mickey seemed to recover in less time than it would have taken to count ten.

Tiger Al Demands Another Chance

THE most downhearted man in Edmonton last night was Tiger Lewis. He is one of the ace attractions of Nate Druxman, Seattle promoter. Frankly, both Druxman and Lewis expected McGuire to prove an easy mark. Lewis has little desire to break the news to Nate that he was knocked out.

"I've just got to have another chance at McGuire," Tiger protested in his dressing room after he had come out of the fog and realized what had happened. "Maybe I should have known your rules, but I didn't, and I figure it cost me the fight."

The vast majority of fans who saw the battle also feel that a return bout is necessary to get a satisfactory decision.

"I'll only stage a return fight if the profits are turned over to some charity. I am being accused of everything under the sun today by fans who don't stop to consider how ridiculous their accusations are. I will not be put in a spot where people can accuse me of working for second gate. I can't do anything fairer than that."

Suspicion Springs Eternal

ONE of the most amusing rumors flying around the streets is that Tiger Lewis did not go down under a legitimate kayoe wallop. Any fan who saw the bump on his right temple last night was satisfied on that score. The fact of the matter is that McGuire laced out so fast with that left, that a lot of the fans didn't see it. Another point that they did not appreciate was that Mickey has genuine dynamite in his punches. Ask Al Lewis. He declared last night that he had never been hit that hard before—not even by Freddie Steele, world middleweight champ, and the only man who ever kayoed the Tiger before.

McGuire definitely proved that he can take it, that he has a real fighting heart and that he can hit. His ringcraft, however, was rather disappointing. He has the ability, but he appeared to lack judgment at times. Until he has acquired more experience, he would benefit a lot by listening to the advice of the seconds in his corner. Old heads don't grow on young shoulders and a couple of bad guesses are enough to get a young head knocked off.

If Mickey should happen to meet Lewis again, he had better keep his right up where it will stop smoking leather. At present that right is his defensive weakness. He carries it too stiffly and he forgets at times that it is his life saver. He should also remember that his best weapon is the machine-gun bursts of rapid fire punching he can turn loose. Lewis wilted before them every time. He has little chance of out-boxing a veteran fighter who is considered good enough to be used as an example for Joe Louis to study.

Junior Hockey Clears Decks

THE Edmonton Junior Hockey League cleared its decks for the coming season last night. Three teams will again comprise the circuit—E.A.C., Safeways and the Army and Navy Cardinals, formerly the Gas Rangers. The opening game will be played on Sunday, November 14, with the E.A.C. pitted against the Cardinals. The complete schedule will be released in a few days. W. G. Harris is again director of the league—a man who would be almost impossible to replace.

In passing, the suggestion should again be made here that the Junior loop accept the suggestion of forming an all-star club to enter the Alberta and inter-provincial playoffs. We have material enough here to produce a club that should go a long way toward the dominion title—if it were concentrated in one club.

Edmonton must have a really powerful club again this season or the fans are going to start playing checkers for recreation, and the renovated Arena will float away in red ink. Give the city another club like the E.A.C. of 1934, however, and hockey will boom here to new heights. The feeling on this point seems to be so strong that it is practically an ultimatum from the fans that such a club must be produced as the price of their support.

ALL-STAR SIX COPS MARGIN BENEFIT GAME

Combined Forces Of Les Canadiens - Maroons Rally But Fail

FORUM, MONTREAL, Nov. 3.—The National Hockey League's All-Stars defeated a combined team of Montreal Canadiens and Maroons last night 6-5 in the Howie Morenz benefit game.

In a finish Howie would have liked, the Montrealers just failed to catch the starry band as they piled in three goals quickly. The stars, coached by Jack Adams of the champion Detroit Red Wings, had held a wide edge in the play until big Babe Siebert of the Canadiens rallied his forces.

ATTENDANCE GOOD

The exhibition, attracting an attendance of 8,653, included tributes to the Canadien centre who died last winter of a heart attack, suffered while recovering from injuries he received in the midst of his come-back with the Habitants.

Joe Cattarinich, former part-owner of the Canadiens, bought Howie's old equipment between periods for $500, then presented it to Morenz' son, Howie Junior. Sale of other souvenirs helped swell the fund that will go to Morenz' widow and three children.

Black cat Johnny Gagnon, who played right wing beside the dashing Morenz, was a star in defeat. He scored twice and passed to Siebert for the goal that started the late Montreal rally.

Most of the greats and near-greats of the league were in the game to honor its most glamorous figure. Even King Clancy, now coach of the Maroons, came from retirement to play on the Montreal defence, and gave an aggressive performance.

PLEASING TO CROWD

The forward lines were unaccustomed to play as units, but the game pleased the crowd because of the multiple scoring and the parade of stars.

After Gagnon opened the scoring, the All-Stars took a 2-1 lead at the end of the first period on goals by Dit Clapper of Boston and Johnny Gottselig of Chicago. Cecil Dillon of New York Rangers put the stars further ahead with the second period's only goal.

Pit Lepine partly closed the gap as the third began but Charlie Conacher of Toronto, Dave Schriner of New York Americans and Marty Barry of Detroit scored in quick succession to put the All-Stars up 6-2.

Siebert and Clancy led charges from the Montreal defence and Siebert, then Gagnon and Paul Haynes scored goals that all but brought the flying Montrealers level.

LINEUPS

All Stars—Goal, Thompson (Boston); defence, Goodfellow (Detroit) and Horner (Toronto); centre, Boucher (Rangers); wings, March (Chicago) and Schriner (Americans). Subs—Smith, Barry (Detroit); Shore, Clapper, Boston); Conacher, H. Jackson (Toronto), Chapman, Day (Americans), Gottselig, (Chicago); Dillon (Rangers).

Montreal—Goal, Cude (Canadiens) defence, Siebert Canadiens) and Wentworth (Maroons); centre, Blinco (Maroons), Wings, Gagnon (Canadiens) and Northcott (Maroons). Subs—Beveridge, Clancy, Ward, Robinson, (Maroons), Joliat, Buswell, Lepine, Haynes, Blake, Mantha, (Canadiens).

Officials: Mickey Ion, Eusede Daigneault, and Albert Leduc.

PATRICIA LAWN BOWLERS MEET

With a good attendance the annual general meeting of the Patricia Lawn Bowling club was held in the club rooms. The election of officers and committees was the main item of discussion. The following were elected: Patrons: Julian Garrett, J. McGavin and J. Williams; re-elected president, R. L. Smith; first vice-president, C. R. Cameron; secretary and vice-president, F. Taylor; secretary-treasurer, S. Lee; re-elected executive: T. Stevens, W. Davidson, J. Singleton, J. Ewart, J. Winchster and E. Bolander; greens committee: A. Gregor, R. L. Smith, W. McDonald; press, E. Bolander; A.L.B.A. tournament rep., W. Dale; A.L.B.A., T. Stevens, J. Ewart, J. Young, C. R. Cameron; city L.B.A.R., L. Smith, S. Lee, W. McDonald; membership committee, W. Dale, E. Bolander.

The help and co-operation of the ladies' club was especially appreciated.

As a final wind-up for the season a whist, bridge and dance was arranged for November 20, at which time rink prizes will be presented.

Larry Gains Cops Fight Decision

Kay Tries Screen Test

Katherine "Kay" Stammers, beautiful English tennis player, is seen here as she views "rushes" of her own first screen test, made at the Hal Roach Studios in Hollywood, Calif. Miss Stammers has several times denied that she will enter the motion picture field, claiming that tennis was her first love, but it is rumored that her friend, Constance Bennett, has sought to have Miss Stammers make screen tests.

Victoria Seniors Beat Separate 12-7 To Cop Final Berth

VICTORIA seniors entered the Edmonton High School Football League finals last night when they defeated Separate seniors 12-7 in a game that was a thrilling spectacle from start to finish.

In the opening quarter Bob Mathieson went smashing around the right end on an extension play to put Victoria out in front 5-0 and start the fireworks in a thrilling manner. The convert was kicked by Don McKenzie from a placement.

During this quarter, Jim Jordan, Sep's star and triple threat man, was injured and forced to leave the game when he was brought down hard by Right of Vic with a vicious tackle.

PILED UP POINTS

The second quarter saw some smart football played by both teams. The feature of the canto being a beautiful 65 yard punt by Murray Smith of Victoria that Fitzgerald took behind his own goal line and attempted to carry it out. He did not make it, however, as Edwardson rouged him to make Vic's score 7-0. In this period McKenzie plunged through the line for another touch to bring the score for the night for Victoria to 12 as the convert was blocked.

In the third quarter Mcdonald of Separate got away a nice 50 yard punt that Ledgard caught but could not run out, and Sep chalked up a point for the rouge.

The fourth stanza produced a determined effort on the part of Separate to pull the game out of the fire and featured the spectacular playing of Jordan who came into the game to score six points all by himself, stealing the show completely.

GALLANT EFFORT

He went around the end on one of his shifty, razzle-dazzle, hip-swinging runs to slide through the Vic backfield like a wraith and crossed the line practically without a hand being laid on him. He went back to kick the placement and got away a honey despite the fact that the Vic line was right on top of him.

Jordan stole the limelight in this quarter and gave without a doubt the best individual performance seen this season. Fitzgerald was also doing good work for Sep., while the honors were fairly evenly distributed on Victoria's squad. Beckett, a junior, was put into the game and made a good showing in the heavier league.

Victoria has earned the right to line-up against Garneau for the Northern Alberta High School football championship game to be played on Thursday of this week. The winners will journey to Wetaskiwin on Saturday, Nov. 6, to play for the right to play the winners of the south in the provincial playdowns, one week from this Saturday.

LINEUPS

LUFTSPRING BELTS BILLY TO CANVAS

Toronto Fighter Scores Technical—Carroll Decisions Wallace

TORONTO, Nov. 3.—Sammy Luftspring of Toronto found it a tough task to subdue Billy Townsend of Vancouver in a main welterweight event on the Crescent Athletic Club card here last night. Luftspring won in the ninth round on a technical knockout, but only after a battle that kept him busy all the way.

Apparently saved by the bell in the second round after two knock-downs, Townsend staged a surprising revival and made things dangerous for Luftspring for seven more rounds.

GOES DISTANCE

A good semi-final bout found Eddie Carroll of Ottawa taking a close but unanimous decision over Gordon Wallace of Vancouver in a 10-round welterweight affair.

Outboxed all the way, Townsend yet gave evidence of a murderous right. Its infrequent detonations exploding on Luftspring's head made the Toronto fighter cautious and he held back often.

Little action was seen in the first round with both fighters feeling each other out. In the second Luftspring blasted out with straight lefts and rights, knocking Townsend from his feet. He stayed for the count of nine, got up, was knocked down again and stayed for eight. As he got up once more the bell rang.

Townsend tore into Luftspring at the bell in the third round but his rally didn't last long. In the fourth Townsend again opened furiously and staggered Luftspring with a wild right to the head.

WEAKENED BILLY

Although Luftspring clubbed Townsend viciously in the following five rounds, it wasn't till the eighth that his hammering took effect. Just before the bell the Vancouver boxer went down for an eight count.

In a fistic flurry in the ninth Luftspring beat Townsend to his knees and was awarded the decision on a technical knockout by Referee Herschel Osborne. Just previously Townsend momentarily staggered his powerful rival with a right uppercut that Luftspring only partially blocked.

Frequent clinches marked the Carroll-Wallace fight. They held about even for the first three rounds and then Carroll drove the former Canadian champion into the ropes with a barrage of rights and lefts.

WALLACE BEATEN

From then on Carroll consolidated his advantage. His one-two slugging in and out of the clinches kept Wallace generally on the defensive. In the eighth and ninth Carroll slammed home effective blows to the body. Wallace seemed bewildered by the heavy pounding.

A six-round preliminary saw Norman Hurdman of Toronto take a technical knockout over Bobby Woods of Powell River, B.C., in the second round. Hurdman took the lead from the start, smashing Woods to the floor. He was given the win after three knockdowns in the second round.

Queensbury Rules Start Wild Uproar Over Second Round

Lewis Has Irishman Groggy On Ropes But Failed To Go To Neutral Corner For Count to Start

By JACK KELLY

TODAY Mickey McGuire holds a fourth round knockout over Tiger Al Lewis of Seattle, welterweight champion of the Pacific North-West and one of the cleverest fighters to ever step into an Edmonton ring. Mickey hung that kayoe on the Tiger last night in one of the wildest battles the city has ever seen.

But Mickey can thank his terrific punching power, fighting heart and lucky stars for that victory. It wasn't his head that gave it to him.

There was nearly a full house on hand for the fight and for days to come you will be hearing 57 different versions of what happened. For the sake of record here is what happened in chronological order without any frills.

The first round produced really brilliant boxing with McGuire shaping up to expectations. Neither landed any major blows and it finished with the points about even.

CALGARY RANGERS HERE SATURDAY

Edmonton fans will be offered their first taste of senior hockey for the season this Saturday at the Arena when the Calgary Rangers will tangle with Dominions in an exhibition game. The face-off is timed for 8:30 p.m. The game is being promoted by the Crockett brothers.

The Rangers will use the same lineup that they will put on the ice for the Big Six league games. Last Friday the Rangers whittled out a win over the Dominions in Calgary, but this week Coach Frank Coulson figures his club can step out and grab off a win. It will be a highly interesting test of calibre that should give patrons a good idea of the brand of hockey the season is likely to produce.

The usual Sunday afternoon skating will be offered at the Arena and with the present chilly temperatures a fine sheet of ice will be available.

Critchey Favors International Puck On Large Scale

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Brigadier-General A. C. Critchley, owner of hockey rinks and prominent in British sports generally, hopes that international amateur hockey will start on a large scale next winter.

Just back from a visit to North America, the Calgary-born sportsman said his tentative plans called for the best amateur teams of Canada, the United States and Great Britain to cross the Atlantic ocean.

Representative teams would travel for about five weeks during which time they would play between eight and 12 games, Canadian and Americans meeting stay-at-home British squads while travelling Britons would play teams in United States and Canadian cities.

General Critchley indicated a system would be devised under which 12 teams in all would be tied up in an international league with a system of standings worked out in which allow[illegible] made for the number of games each team actually played.

TRIO BRONKS ARE SELECTED ON ALL-STARS

Regina Riders Also Rate Three on Club—'Peg Has Seven Chosen

WINNIPEG, Nov. 3. — Built solidly on a fast, charging line flanked by clever ends and fronting a backfield loaded with power and speed, The Canadian Press' first annual all-star western interprovincial football union team is the choice of coaches and sports editors.

Thirteen men form the all-star squad because of a tied vote for one outside berth but for all other positions the selectors were definite. Bud Marquardt of Winnipeg and Larry Haynes, Calgary, earned the same number of ballots and both are included.

HANSON IS CINCH

Dynamic little Fritz Hanson raced unanimously into a halfback position at the head of seven Winnipeg Blue Bombers, five of them present at Hamilton in 1935 when the blond streak dazzled Tigers to win for the west its first national title.

Calgary Bronks, who play off with 'Pegs for the union title, and Regina Roughriders both gave three men to the team, which follows: Flying wing, Ed. Rorvig, Calgary; half, Fritz Hanson, Winnipeg; half, Ralph Pierce, Regina; half, Art Stevenson, Winnipeg; quarter, Bob Fritz, Winnipeg; snap, Dean Griffing, Regina; inside, Lou Mogul, Winnipeg; inside, Howard Hurd, Calgary; middle, Martin Gainor, Winnipeg; middle, Bob Walker, Regina; outside, Jeff Nicklin, Winnipeg; outside, Bud Marquardt, Winnipeg; Larry Haynes, Calgary (tie).

If the team lacks anything it is an outstanding passer. No current union sharpshooter had split the air as accurately as did Russell Rebholz before his retirement from Winnipeg last autumn. But Rorvig, Hanson and Fritz throw forwards well and effectively.

PLUNGING POWER

Plunging power lies in the 200-pound bodies of Fritz and Rorvig; speed and uncanny elusiveness in the wiry frames of Hanson and Pierce; and never has the west known such a consistently accurate booter as Stevenson whose punts carry both high and far. Stevenson and Rorvig are deadly place-kickers.

Stevenson, Gainor and Hurd are capably upon Rorvig and Fritz while Griffing's 220 pounds and Gainor's 200 have been secondary dynamite to opposing ball-carriers all season. The giant Regina snap and Gainor, Bomber middle, centred their teams' second line of defence.

The line is heavy. Griffing, Mogul, Gainor and Walker all 200 pounds or more, but fast and great blockers. Nicklin's 195 pounds of tackling fury won outright selection at one end while both Haynes and Marquardt are fine tacklers and outstanding pass receivers.

Stevenson, Gainor and Hurd are Union newcomers this year, the others all veterans of at least one previous season. Hanson was the only unanimous choice but Pierce and Rorvig lacked only one vote of 100 per cent recognition.

Prominent Racing Starter Is Dead

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 3.—Harry Morrisey, 63, well-known race track starter, died at Bay Meadows, Cal., according to word received Tuesday. During his racing career, he worked on nearly every major track in the United States and many in eastern Canada.

He operated at the old Tia Juana, Mexico, race track for years and as far north on the Pacific coast as Vancouver. One of Morrisey's greatest assignments was at Kenilworth Jockey Club here in 1920 when he started the $80,000 match race between Man o' War and Sir Barton.

Faces Reynolds Friday

Pictured above is Duke Ruppenthal, burly Jewish grappler who meets Jackie Reynolds, world's welterweight champion in the main event on Promoter Mike Cutcher's weekly wrestling card at the Memorial Hall this Friday. Ruppenthal was unanimously chosen as the best possible opposition for the champion. There will be but little weight difference as the welter limit in wrestling is 160 pounds. Two good supporting bouts in which Maurice DeBleick meets Len Jorghenson in the first preliminary and Al Christopolis meets Jack Eku in the semi-main will round out the card. Reynolds has had a colorful rise to the top of the heap. He was taught his wrestling by Farmer Burns, famed mat ace and is now called the "fox of the mat." Action starts at 8:30 p.m. with the free list suspended. Popular prices will prevail.

Baby Terriers Win Deciding Game 12-9 Over Coast Birds

Great Goaltending of Ray Mortimer Proves Winning Factor For Orillia—Juniors Avenge Vanquished Seniors

TORONTO, Nov. 3.—Backed by the great goaltending of Ray Mortimer, Orillia Baby Terriers came back last night to defeat Vancouver Bluebirds 12-9 in the fifth and deciding game of the first East-West finals for the junior Canadian lacrosse championship.

The Baby Terriers, bringing some measure of consolation to Ontario's home of lacrosse for losing the senior championship to New Westminster Salmonbellies, led from the start. With the victory went the Minto Cup, formerly emblematic of the professional lacrosse championship of the Dominion.

Orillia won the first two games of the best-of-five series at home only to have Bluebirds surge back to even the series. The fifth game was brought here to be played on neutral territory.

SENSATIONAL GOALIE

While Mucker McWhinnie was giving a great offensive display for Terriers, Mortimer turned back the Bluebirds in sensational fashion as they stormed past his weak defence.

McWhinnie, recruited from Toronto Marlboros for the series, paced an Orillia attack that always was a goal or more better than Vancouver. The little centreman fired the girst goal just 32 seconds after the start. Before the night was over he blasted four more past Herb Delmonico.

Twice after the first period which ended 4-2 for Terriers there was just a goal margin between the teams. At the end of the third it was 9-8, then 10-9 midway through the final stanza. But Dalt White and Morris Cassidy shot a goal apiece less than two minutes apart to clinch the decision.

Mortimer, besides being in his best form, was blessed by Dame Fortune too. At least a dozen times a Bluebird fired from five feet or less only to have the ball hit the post and bound out. But the luck detracted nothing from his performance.

Bigger and stronger than the Terriers, the coast team pressed at times without a let-up for several minutes, bombarding the Orillia cage from close in. But there was always Mortimer to come up with a brilliant stop.

LED BLUEBIRDS

Beau Bradford and Bob Lee led Vancouver's offensive with three and two goals, respectively. But the finishing snap apparent in Vancouver's 23-11 drubbing of the Terriers last night was not with them again. As often as Mortimer stopped them and as often as they hit the post, Vancouver missed on the final pass at the goalmouth.

The Terrier scorers, besides McWhinnie, White and Cassidy, were Louis Caperchio, two, and Fred Parry, Scotty Milne and Tony Worsencroft, one each. Jimmy Douglas, Blackie Black, Johnny McDonald and Bert Bryant marked single tallies for Bluebirds.

Bulk of the action was confined to the last period when Terriers were concerned mostly with holding off the final Vancouver rush. In the first three stanzas play was spotty.

LINEUPS:

Vancouver: Goal, Delmonico; defence, Bryant and Bradbury; rover, Cavallin; centre, Black; wings, Phalen, Jenkinson, Bradford, Ackley and Morphett.

Mickey's head. It is one of the most painful blows in fighting. Mickey's knees buckled and he staggered as if the blow had produced "whiskey legs". He reached the ropes and supported himself on them.

McGUIRE ON ROPES

Lewis rushed over to him and attempted to pull him off the ropes and turn him around so that he could land the finishing blow. Referee Jerry Delane seized Lewis and told him to go to a neutral corner. Lewis could not understand this order and kept trying to get at McGuire. In the few seconds that this lasted, Mickey's head cleared and he turned under his own power again and clinched with Lewis for a few seconds and then fought possibly 20 seconds more until the gong ended the round.

Hundreds of fans thought that Referee Delane had either erred in sending Lewis to a neutral corner, or else had deliberately saved McGuire. Lewis himself is convinced he was robbed of a victory.

The whole thing arose from Lewis and many of the fans not understanding that the fight permit, issued by the Edmonton Boxing Commission, called for the battle being staged under Queensbury rules. These rules stipulate that the referee shall begin the count if a fighter is keeping himself on his feet by means of the ropes. Delane was sending Lewis to a neutral corner in order to begin this count.

LEWIS CONFUSED

On the other hand, the rules generally used in the United States, the ones Lewis thought he was fighting under, do not permit a count to start until a fighter is on the floor. According to these rules Lewis was right in attempting to finish McGuire off.

The start of third round found McGuire completely recovered. He launched a terrific attack on the Tiger. Midway through the canto, McGuire landed a pile-driver blow over Lewis' heart. He sagged and was on the verge of going down. Mickey appeared to think that the Tiger was feigning and hesitated to rush in for the kill. In the precious seconds lost, Lewis recovered but finished out the round on the defensive.

As the gong opened the fourth round, McGuire rushed his opponent with a savage barrage that made the Tiger give ground. They were just coming out of a clinch when Mickey laced out with a left that the eye could hardly follow. It crashed full against Lewis' right temple. Lewis tottered on his feet and crumpled up on the floor.

FINAL CRUSHER

McGuire went to a neutral corner and Delane began counting. Tiger stumbled to his feet at nine—plainly groggy. McGuire leaped from the corner and hit him flush on the chin with a terrific right. Lewis went down as if an axe had hit him. This time he was out cold long after the count of ten.

It was fully ten minutes after he had been carried to his dressing room that the Tiger came to.

"Is the fight over?" he demanded weakly as he looked around the room.

"Sure. Don't you know what happened?" a bystander demanded.

"I can't remember a thing after he hit me here." Lewis replied as he gingerly touched the growing swelling over his right temple. "Seems to me I heard the referee say 'nine,' but that is all I can remember."

"Don't you know he hit you a second time when you came up at the count of nine?" someone asked.

WHERE'D HE HIT ME?

"No. Where did he hit me that time?" Tiger asked in evident bewilderment.

"But I was robbed of that fight in the second round," Tiger protested. "Why didn't the referee let me go in and finish him?"

At the moment none in the dressing room understood the rule difference, but the Tiger was informed of the fact shortly after.

And that is the low down on the fight that sent the fans home in one of the hottest arguments that the boulevards of this city have heard in many a long year.

SUPPORTING CARD

The rest of the card produced fighting that was both interesting and tiring. Don Carmichael of Stony Plain won a decision over Wilbert Young of Ribstone in the eight-round semi-final.

Carmichael fought gamely and won out on his condition. Young was badly out of condition and wilted under a punishing body attack that Carmichael launched in the sixth and seventh rounds.

Big Dick Johnson of Ponoka, a heavyweight as quick as a cat and as strong as a bull, put lanky Claire Dunbar of Calmar away with a knockout in the second round.

Young Terry of Edmonton hammered out a four-round decision over Gordon Taylor, a colored boy in one of the prelims. There was plenty of action and punching, but Taylor lacked much in the way of technique.

"Popeye" Harding, colored city fighter, staged a rousing comeback to win a technical knockout over Donald of Edmonton in the second round of the other prelim.

JUNIOR GRIDDERS IN FINAL TODAY

The Edmonton junior high football finals will be played this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Renfrew Ball Park with Garneau and Victoria being the contestants for the honors. These juniors play a real brand of football and are deserving of much greater support. If Edmonton is to ever field a respectable senior club right here in these high school leagues is potential material.

VON OPEL PARTY DEPART JASPER AFTER HUNTING

Special to The Bulletin

JASPER, Nov. 3.—Following an eleven-day hunt north of the Jasper Park boundary, George Von Opel, his cousin, Mrs. Von Opel, both of Frankfort, Germany, and members of the well-known industrial firm, with Eric Phelps of London, England, Olympic champion sculler, left for Toronto on Tuesday, and eventually New York.

From that port they will sail.

This is the first time they have hunted in Canada and they were well satisfied. For two and a half months they have been hunting in the Rockies and have a fine collection of trophies.

Earlier in the season they outfitted from Banff with Frank Phillipps of Vancouver, who also was in charge of the party while hunting out of Jasper.

They particularly went out after caribou, and were successful in bringing down two, also some goats. Dick Hargreaves and Dick Dickinson of Jasper were members of the party on the northern hunt.

WRITERS CHOOSE GEHRINGER BEST

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Charley Gehringer, Detroit Tigers veteran second baseman, was named by the Baseball Writers' Association as the American League's "most valuable player" for 1937, thereby climaxing the biggest season of his 14-year career with the game's most cherished award.

At an age when many players are on the way down—and out, Gehringer thus found his 34th year, already marked by the league batting championship, topped off by two long sought goals.

Although his margin of victory in the Writers' poll over Joe DiMaggio, dynamiter of the world champion New York Yankees, was slight, Gehringer nevertheless came within two points of a "perfect" score in the balloting.

GIRL HOOPSTERS MEET TONIGHT

Tonight at 8 o'clock sharp at the Civic Block, there will be a girls' basketball meeting. Any girl living in the city, and who is 15 years or over, is eligible to join this proposed league. It cannot be stressed too much, if you are interested, you should be at this meeting, as everybody concerned is positively welcomed.

Already three teams of last year's city league have shown their intentions to join, and it is hoped several more entries will be received. Any community desirous of entering a team are asked to phone 83164 or be at the meeting. Each team entered will be supervised by a competent coach.

Edmonton Ski Club Will Meet Wednesday Eve

The Edmonton Ski Club Inc. will hold its first general meeting of the season at the Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday evening, November 3, commencing at 8 p.m.

At a recent directors' meeting a program of improvement to the ski grounds and hill was recommended, and it is very important that all members attend this meeting to decide on plans for the season.

The provincial championship tournament for jumping and cross country racing, will be sponsored by the Edmonton Ski Club during the month of February, 1938, and a tentative date will be set at this meeting.

All those interested in skiing will be welcomed at the meeting.

EAST INDIAN'S FAMILY PROVES OTTAWA WOE

Hindu With Mexican Wife and U.S.-Born Son Worry Canada

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—The reported immigration puzzle at Vancouver of an East Indian, his Mexican wife and American-born son, each of whom had citizenship in a different country, was no puzzle today at all to F. C. Blair, director of immigration.

According to the story the East Indian and the Mexican woman both entered the United States illegally, married there, and had a son. The three later entered Canada illegally, and now faced deportation, but the native land of each would not accept the other two.

SAME 30 YEARS AGO

Actually, Mr. Blair said today, the East Indian came to Canada about 30 years ago, stayed a while, went to the United States, and was married in September, 1929, in Texas to a woman of Mexican birth. They had one son who died a month after birth. In April, 1936, the couple were smuggled into Canada.

"The United States has not been asked to take the family back, nor has Mexico," Blair said. "Nor has India refused to take the wife.

ORDERED DEPORTED

"Early in 1937 the couple were ordered deported from Canada because they had been smuggled into the country, but the deportation order has not yet been carried out. Deportation was deferred for six months to see how they could get along in Canada.

"The case is not active at the moment at all. They have not been arrested. Their six months is not up. The department will reconsider the case when we receive the report of the district superintendent at Vancouver at the end of the six months."

DANZIG WILL REMAIN FREE SAYS BERLIN

Statement Discounted As Election Talk by German Leaders

BERLIN, Nov. 3. — German officials today staunchly maintained the free city of Danzig would remain a separate entity despite a forecast by its Nazi leader "the time will soon come when the flag of the Third Reich will be the state flag also of the Free City of Danzig."

TRIAL BALLOON

The general view in foreign quarters, however, was that Forster's statement was intended as a trial balloon in the direction of Danzig's ultimate union with Germany.

The town of Danzig, Baltic Sea port, was a part of Prussia before the war. It was established, with surrounding territory, as the Free City of Danzig under protection of the League of Nations in 1921.

"Just as the Nazi party in Germany on assuming full power raised its party flag to a national emblem, so the Danzig Nazis, now that they fully control the little free state, will also make their party flag the state emblem."

NO UNION

The spokesman asserted "under no circumstances can the deduction be made that Danzig will be joined to the Reich when the Danzig people adopt our flag as theirs."

Forster, who told his audience he had spent last Thursday with Chancellor Hitler, also announced a series of laws in harmony with those of Germany soon would be promulgated. He asked housewives not to buy in Jewish shops.

BRITAIN PLANS TRADE TREATY WITH REBELS

LONDON, Nov. 3—Great Britain was reported by an informed source today to be on the verge of reaching a trade agreement with insurgent Spain.

Under the terms, which the informant said would be announced "at an appropriate moment," commercial missions and consular offices would be established in both countries.

The informant said he did not believe, however, the agreement would constitute diplomatic recognition, even de facto, of Franco's administration as it was a "purely commercial affair" and would affect only consuls. Full de jure recognition would involve an exchange of ambassadors.

The agreement would not permit a head of an insurgent mission to approach the foreign office officially, the informant said.

He maintained taxpayers were not getting a square deal when a majority of aldermen accepted a plan which would extend $26,000,000 of the city's bonded indebtedness over a 30-year period at rates which were in effect double the amount paid by cities in the east, particularly Windsor, Ont.

HIGHER WAGES

Referring to his proposals calling for restoration of civic pay scales to the 1929 basis and the adoption of a 40-hour week in the city service, Mayor Clarke declared both these moves were long overdue, and that if returned to council he would press for their adoption.

Speaking on the question of the cost of direct relief, social service and taxation, Mayor Clarke stressed the fact these problems were tied together. "Means must be found to maintain the necessary social services, which in my opinion are a direct responsibility of the state. If elected, it is my intention to invite federal and provincial government representatives to a roundtable conference for the purpose of seeking an easement for Edmonton as far as our social services are concerned," he stated.

In conclusion, Mayor Clarke said: "If you are in agreement with a vigorous application of the policies on which I ask your support I pledge myself to immediate action as soon as the new council takes office."

COWPER'S PLAN

John S. Cowper, mayoralty candidate, told businessmen that "mine is purely a business program designed to alleviate distress in Edmonton and increase the city's revenues." This could be done, he maintained, by launching of a wide home-building program.

Emphasizing this as his particular plan for improving social and economic conditions, Mr. Cowper referred to the high mill rates which had been Edmonton's lot for many years. This, coupled with the fact that during the past seven years there had been a virtual "lockout" in the building trades in the city by financial interests, had resulted in the growth of slum conditions unsurpassed in the history of Edmonton.

"My plan is not original," he said. "It has been tried in many other countries with marked success. . . . I want to see capital invested in the most profit-making utility in the city—the construction of homes."

BIG PROFIT

Amplifying this statement, he said that in the first year of his proposed home-building plan the city would derive a profit of 100 per cent from every dollar that was invested in the plan and which took a man off the relief roll.

Mr. Cowper declared that under the provisions of the Dominion Housing Act it would be possible to build homes which the average wage-earner could afford to buy—fine $3,000 homes which would require a payment of only $25.60 a month, including taxes and fire insurance. "I hope my business presentment will appeal to the sound business sense of the gentlemen here," he said in conclusion.

Stating he was not pledged in any way to follow any line of action dictated to him from outside, Ald. Fry, mayoralty candidate, said his background on city council should be advantageous to him if elected to the mayor's chair.

TAKES EXCEPTION

He took exception to a published statement that he had no plan and had nothing to offer the taxpayers of Edmonton. "I was simply waiting for other candidates on my ticket to be nominated. . . . Unless you can swing six votes on council, no matter what your policies are, they won't be put in force," he said, adding that early in pre-election developments he had withheld his plan until he had had an opportunity "to get together with other candidates on my slate and draft a platform."

Ald. Fry also took exception to another statement appearing in the press bearing the headline: "Restriction of Vote Aim of Fry Backers." In this connection, he explained he had been accused of urging through the medium of the taxation brief to be presented to the royal commission on taxation that the vote be restricted to property-holders. "This is absolutely false," he declared.

IS BOGEY

Ald. Guy Patterson, mayoralty candidate, referring to a statement made earlier in the meeting by A. Blair Paterson, aldermanic contestant, denouncing what he (Mr. Paterson), termed an "unholy alliance" between Social Crediters and Communists, declared this was the "Old bogey of Communism being drawn as a red herring across the trail."

He said that all groups should co-operate for the good of the city. The City of Edmonton was a large business corporation and should be wisely administered and he maintained one of the most important factors in the administration was a loyal civic service, which he declared Edmonton had.

In conclusion the candidate said he believed in a union of progressive groups for the betterment of Edmonton. He appealed to the audience "not to look down" on the great mass of people, for it was from such as they the farmers and the small men in business—that the country obtained its best brains.

SPEED SPEAKS

Frederick J. Speed, mayoralty candidate, said his consistent participation in civic elections during the past four years proved to electors that, "I can take it on the chin."

He held that "brute creation" had nothing which would compare with conditions now existing among human beings, referring particularly to the deplorable housing conditions.

The speaker also attacked the Fortin plan stating it was not a solution to Edmonton's debt problem since it gave taxpayers no relief through a reduction in interest rates.

WOULD CO-OPERATE

A. Blair Paterson, aldermanic candidate, declared it was his intion, if elected, to co-operate in "installing a business-like administration" at the Civic block "and would do all in his power to divorce the administration from politics." In closing, he referred to what he termed "the unholy alliance between Social Credit and Communism." In this connection he declared there must be many Social Crediters who looked askance on such an alliance.

Walter W. Cleveley, aldermanic candidate, dealt particularly with the Fortin plan, stating he had moved a resolution in council proposing that the city enter into negotiations with bondsmen on Edmonton's debenture debt situation. He said it had been in the interests of bondholders to confer with the city, and maintained the plan finally adopted had been beneficial to the city, since it enabled council to launch a capital works program.

TAX PAYMENTS

Frederick C. Casselman, aldermanic candidate, said he was supporting advance payments of taxes by property holders, declaring that the present plan had many advantages, but should be extended to give all taxpayers able to meet taxes before due interest on such advance payments.

The speaker praised the Fortin plan, declaring the city never before had been able to issue bonds at a rate as low as 4½ per cent.

Thomas Housley, public school board candidate, said he was advocating free text books for school children; more high school accommodation; maintenance of school buildings in a state of better repair; restoration of salaries to the 1929 scale; and more vocational training.

"COMMON SENSE"

George Gleave, public school board candidate, said it was the duty of every citizen to take part in civic affairs. Dealing with planks in his platform, he stated he would bring "A fair degree of common sense" to the school board.

Edward Brown, aldermanic candidate, told the meeting he was in the election campaign as a taxpayer, as a representative of labor and as a returned man. He believed in collective bargaining between employers and employees as far as increased wage scales were concerned. He referred particulary to a home-building program for Edmonton; improvement of the airport and expenditure of money in other ways on profit-yielding investments.

Elisha East, aldermanic candidate, briefly reviewed his past two years on council. Dealing with negotiations leading up to the adoption of the Fortin plan, the speaker stated he had "nothing to be ashamed of" as a member of city council's negotiating committee. He claimed the scheme had saved the city a lot of money—"as much as $100,000 this past year." He declared the city was now in a posiiton to retire its high-interest-bearing debentures, and that a callable feature in the plan made it possible for the city to call in all its bonds if a rate less than 4½ per cent was available.

Douglas Grout, aldermanic candidate, claimed that if past city councils had had more business men on the aldermanic board "the city wouldn't be in the position it is today." If elected, he said he would use his own judgment in dealing with the various civic issues.

BIG COST

Dr. Walter Morrish, seeking reelection to the Public School board, spoke on behalf of both himself and A. E. Ottewell, who is also a school board candidate. He told his audience that 92 per cent of the cost of education in Edmonton was paid by property-holders.

Ernest C. Holub, aldermanic candidate, stated he was vitally concerned in the promotion of projects for the betterment of conditions for young people; a home-building program; and assistance for unemployed. In this connection he said he had been active in collecting vegetables for shipment to the drought areas in southern Alberta and that to date 91 cars had been despatched to the distressed districts from Edmonton and district.

In closing the candidate said he advocated lower utility rates.

TAXATION

Daniel K. Knott, aldermanic candidate, said if elected he would attempt to have the senior governments carry a fairer share of the cost of social service. Touching on the taxation question, the candidate declared the senior powers had taken away from the city all the best tax-yielding sources leaving the municipality with only three sources—property, business and licenses. He held this distribution was unfair to the city.

Adam D. Bruce, Public School Board candidate, said he was running on the same platform he had adopted in previous years. His main plank, he said, was free school books for children of unemployed parents. In closing, he said he had been a resident in Edmonton for the past 11 years and had been in the drug business until two years ago when he had accepted a position with the provincial hospital and medical service.

BUILDING PLAN

Harry D. Ainlay, Aldermanic candidate, said that while a member of city council he had advocated a home-building scheme for the abolishment of slum conditions. A building scheme he stated, must have cheap money and the cost of the homes must be within the reach of the average wage-earner's pocket. He claimed the amount of taxation imposed on homes "Was absolutely ridiculous" and would have to be reduced if the property holder were to survive.

Margaret Crang, Aldermanic candidate, told the meeting the women of the city needed a representative on city council. She held that the present financial condition of the city was "partly due to businessmen." In the past businessmen had promoted projects which Edmonton was financially unable to carry.

Dealing with the Fortin plan, Miss Crang said she was not going to co-operate on council if her colleagues were going to support such things as the Fortin plan.

Continuing, she declared that the City of Edmonton "had been sold down the river to the bondholders." Windsor and Winnipeg had got a better deal, but Edmonton had been loaded with a debt-extension scheme because a majority of council had accepted the Fortin plan.

As an alternative to this scheme, she advocated the suspension of sinking fund payments and the capitalization of direct relief costs.

GOLDEN RULE

Mrs. Mary Anne Gilchrist, Public School candidate, said it was time to "apply the Golden Rule" to the administration of public affairs. She said she had resided in Edmonton for 25 years. She felt there was a place on the school board for a woman, and promised, if elected, to improve school conditions, particularly the abolition of over-crowding in city schools. More money should be spent on providing accommodation for schools, she declared.

Peter Glassman, Aldermanic candidate, said the difficulty facing city council at present was the high tax rate imposed on property holders. The reason Edmonton had such a high rate was because more than one-half of the land in the city was owned by the municipality. A vigorous policy should be pursued with the objective of putting this property back on the tax roll, he declared. He would work to this end if elected. He deplored the amount of the mill rate ear-marked for education and relief—26 and 13 mills respectively. There should be a better distribution of taxes.

Sidney Bowcott, Public School Board candidate, told his hearers he had been a school trustee for the past six years. One of the most vital problems facing people today was "the frustration of youth. Youths who have had all their hopes shattered and scattered." All they asked was a chance to earn their living, and he declared that if re-elected he would co-operate in any movement designed to rehabilitate young people. "This question transcends every other problem," he stated, adding that capitalism had failed in its duty to the people in this particular respect.

John J. Allen, Aldermanic candidate, offered to co-operate with other members of city council for the betterment of conditions, if elected. He said he would vote as he thought right, and would not be influenced by party politics.

TAX DISTRIBUTION

Ald. J. T. McCreath, continuing Councillor, spoke briefly at the close of the meeting. The Alderman maintained that unless there was a fairer distribution between the federal, provincial and municipal governments, the city would be unable to carry its obligations, including social services and particularly direct relief.

Charles M. Kelly, aldermanic candidate, promised his co-operation for any progressive move on city council providing he was elected.

Speakers were thanked by Chairman Charles S. Fisher and Percy Manning, members of the South Side Businessmen's Association. Jimmie Smith was in charge of arrangements for the dinner meeting.

Experts Estimate Eyston's Speed At 350 Miles Per

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Nov. 3.—How fast can Capt. George E. T. Eyston's "Thunderbolt" travel? No one in his English entourage will guess—but several land speed experts contend 350 miles per hour is an authentic estimate.

The Englishman's nine mechanics admit the ponderous, 24-cylinder machine—which already has gone 309.6 m.p.h. on this saline course, possesses far more power than Eyston has utilized.

When the seven-ton "Thunderbolt" streaked over this dry lake bed last week, Eyston admitted the throttle wasn't wide open. Twice during acceleration Eyston checked his speed—when a tire shed rubber and again when the damaged tire caused the car to wobble.

"Thunderbolt," created specifically for an assault on the world land speed record of 301.1292 m.p.h. established here in 1935 by Sir Malcolm, boasts 3,100 horsepwoer, 1,000 more than "Bluebird," the record-holder.
